Germans Clamped in Huge Trap As Allied Armies Envelop Ruhr

30 Miles from City

Reds Drive on Vienna Along Five Highways

LONDON, March 30.—(Reuters)—Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's forces have captured Nove Zamky, 50 miles east of Bratislava in Slovakia, Premier Stalin announced tonight.

By ROBERT MUSEL
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, March 30.—(BUP)—The Red Army today was reported driving on Vienna along five highways south of the Danube and was only 30 miles from the Austrian capital at Sopron which was reported besieged.

The German high command admitted the fall of Danzig and Gdynia.

The Germans, however, claimed the Soviet drive into Austria had been halted.

At Sopron the Russians were only 18 miles from the huge Austrian manufacturing and war centre of Wiener Neustadt, often a target for American heavy bombers, and the rail lines linking Austria with the south.

At St. Boniface

License Given First French Radio Station

OTTAWA, March 30. — (CP)— Munitions Minister Howe told the House of Commons yesterday a permit for a radio station at St. Boniface, Man., had been granted without prejudice to applications for stations at Gravelbourg and Prince Albert in Saskatchewan, and Edmonton, Alta.

He was answering a question from John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) who said there was already 98 per cent radio coverage on the prairie provinces.

Mr. Howe also said the CBC had made no recommendation that wave lengths be allotted to proposed new stations at Edmonton, Prince Albert and Gravelbourg.

It was announced early this year that a French radio station will be

Nazis Give Up by Thousands As Race to Berlin Underway

From AP and BUP Dispatches

PARIS, March 30.—The race to Berlin is on. With German prisoners being rounded up at the rate of 2,000 an hour, and with the flower of the German army on the West front encircled in the trap set by Field Marshal Montgomery's 21st Army Group in the north and the American First Army in the south, the whole of the Ruhr basin and its great arsenals are now denied to Hitler's Reich. Competent observers say that it is only a question of time, perhaps hours, before the general retreat now in progress becomes a rout, and all German opposition on the West front disintegrates and ceases.

So fast is the advance proceeding from both north and south of the strategical Ruhr basin, that detailed sectional maps of Germany have to be dropped to the advanced armored spearheads by plane. All maps in their possession are out of date as they have completely over-run the areas covered by them.

PUSH BEYOND MUENSTER

Strict security blackouts are still being maintained but it is known that British troops have entered the Westphalian capital of Muenster and pushed on through. The road to Berlin is wide open and huge dumps of ammunition, guns, tanks, engineers' supplies, railroad trains and other war material have been captured.

Germany's big northwestern ports of Hamburg, Bremen and Wilhelmshaven are threatened. Town after town and village after village is displaying the white flag of surrender as victorious British, Canadian and American vanguards surge forward.

The Ruhr basin was Germany's arsenal. Last year it supplied the Nazi army with 75 per cent of its military equipment and requirements. Now the Ruhr is lost to the German High Command as such cities as Essen, Dortmund, Hamm, Dusseldorff and Mulhiem are "written off," and the race between British and American armored columns for Berlin, and to join up with the Russians advancing in the east is under way.

SURPRISING SPEED

The break-up of the German armies in the west appears to have come even faster than front line generals anticipated. From the time they broke through the hard crust of resistance which the Nazis formed to prevent the crossing of the Rhine, the Allied tank columns and motorized infantry divisions have pushed on at speed which surprises even their leaders. Knifing through at point after point they are meeting beaten, demoralized Germans intent only on surrender.

The only major German resistance on the British front is reported along the northern flank of Emmerich, 10 miles northwest of Rees, but even here the Nazis are being rooted from cellar pillboxes by men of the Third Canadian infantry division who are driving them back at every point.

It is here that the remnants of the German First Paratroop Army is fighting a desperate rearguard action, but they are being cut up into isolated segments by the crushing

Bitter Resistance

Canuck Troops Clear Nazis from Emmerich

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH CANADIANS IN GERMANY, March 30.—(CP)—Except for a few snipers, the Rhine stronghold of Emmerich was cleared of German forces by western Canada infantry in stubborn street fighting throughout last night.

Meanwhile as the bitter battle for this bastion on the river's east bank, 22 miles northwest of Wesel drew to an end the build-up for a Canadian break-out on the Westphalian plain proceeded apace.

Men of the Regina Rifles were dealing with several nests of snipers in five-storey buildings along the Rhine in the town's western outskirts and the Winnipeg Rifles were firmly established in the northwestern part of the town after beating off a counter-attack at 6 a.m. by enemy infantry with four tanks and four self-propelled guns.

MOVE BEYOND TOWN

The Canadian Scottish, of Victoria, mopped up the centre and eastern side of the town and tanks of the Sherbrooke Fusiliers, of Sherbrooke, Que., prowled through the town during the night battle. Other Canadian regiments, including the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, of Toronto, and Le Regiment de la Chaudiere, of Lake Megantic, Que., now are moving beyond Emmerich.

(This dispatch did not indicate in which direction they were advancing.)

Northeast of the town the Queen's own Cameron Highlanders of Winnipeg (not to be confused with the Soviet Comment

Allies Lauded But Says Reds Opened Road

MOSCOW, March 30.—(AP)—While paying tribute to the speed and prowess of the Allies on the western front, military commentator Ilya Ehrenburg wrote today in Red Star, the Red Army newspaper, that Russian heroes had opened the road to the Ruhr and Nuernberg.

Ehrenburg's was the only comment on the western front appearing in the Soviet press. The Russian public followed western front developments through the supreme headquarters communique, broadcast by the Moscow radio and published in all Moscow daily newspapers under the standard headline: "War Activity in Western Europe." Most newspapers covered the Pacific war with a 12-line dispatch.

TRAVELLING FAST

Ehrenburg wrote:

"Tanks of the American 3rd Army are swiftly moving ahead over good German roads . . . the Americans love to travel fast and now they can fight to their taste. They did a good job breaking down German defences and excellently crossed the Rhine, and after this went riding. I don't want to minimize their merit. A person is proud of his friends and the people of his Allies.

"I also do not forget the role of the Englishmen and Canadians who fought on the most difficult sector around the Ruhr. If I make a reminder of our role in the advance of the American tanks from Luxembourg to citadel Bavaria, it is only because I remember Petuska (scene of a Russian battle in March, 1942).

"Now we take tens of towns in one day. But then the battle of Rzhev continued three months. Now the Allies are looking upon the towns of Westphalia, Pfaltz and Nassau. But then German tanks were in Egypt. Then the Germans were very strong, and for this I want to recall the heroes who died and the many graves on Russian land. They died not for the ruins of Petuska. They have opened the road for the Red Army to Stettin, Berlin and Vienna. They have opened the road for our allies to the Ruhr, Kassel and Nuernberg."

Combined British, U.S. Task Force Hammer Japan's Ryukyu Islands

By ELMONT WAITE

GUAM, March 30.—(AP)—The United States Pacific fleet augmented by a powerful British battleship-carrier task force poured shells and carrier planes for the seventh straight day Thursday at the Ryukyus where Tokyo said American transports are moving in for an invasion of Okinawa, 325 miles southwest of Japan.

Shortly after disclosing that the 35,000-ton battleship HMS King George V, the 23,000-ton carrier HMS Illustrious and other British warships attacked the southern end of the island chain Monday and Tuesday, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, United States Pacific fleet commander, announced today:

"The U.S. Pacific fleet continued on March 29 to attack shore installations in the Ryukyus with carrier aircraft and with surface gunfire."

He also disclosed that Japanese planes and torpedo boats tried to deal blows at the attacking warships Tuesday night during which

Terror Methods

Nazis Open Campaign Keep People in Line

LONDON, March 30.—(CP)—Nazi leaders appeared today to be resorting to a campaign of stark terror in an effort to hold the German people in line during the country's greatest hours of peril.

The campaign seems to be taking two forms. Nazi propagandists warned the Germans they would be no better than slaves if the Allies are victorious, and at the same time they threatened with dire punishment all who failed to fight to the end or co-operated with Allied authorities in occupied territory.

Despite this last-ditch appeal to fear, reports from many sources indicated mounting chaos and despair. Stories relayed through neutral capitals told of disorders and mutinies, attempts on the lives of top Nazis and large-scale desertions from the army.

Japanese Move Canuck Captives To Tokyo Camps

OTTAWA, March 30.—(CP)—A great proportion of Canadian prisoners taken by the Japanese at Hong Kong have been transferred to Tokyo camps in highly industrial areas which have been Allied bombing targets and Canada has renewed her protests to the Japanese against this violation of international convention, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night.

Civilian internment camps at Kobe and Nagasaki are also in the immediate proximity of factory concentrations, the Prime Minister said in a statement.

REPORT CASUALTIES

"Casualties from bombing, both among prisoners of war and internees have been reported, but so far none of the lists received has included any Canadians, although a number of Canadians has almost certainly been in camps near target areas," the statement said.

Allied governments would continue to press the Japanese government, through the protecting power, to take all steps to ensure

Super-Fortresses Strike Singapore From India Base

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(AP)—India-based Super-Fortresses struck Singapore again yesterday (March 29, Japanese time), blasting oil supplies in this strategic crossroads of the Japanese empire.

Approximately 40 B-29's made the attack, headquarters of the United States 20th air force in Washington reported last night.

This is the third time this month Singapore has been hit. The brief announcement here said that results of the raid would not be available until operational reports had been completed.

LONDON, March 30.—(CP)—The German radio quoted a Tokyo broadcast today as saying 150 U.S. Superfortresses bombed Tokyo this morning. There was no immediate confirmation.

Likely Delegates To Parley Named

OTTAWA, March 30.—(CP)—Senator C. C. Ballantyne, Progressive Conservative leader in the Senate, was selected a member of the Canadian delegation to the San Francisco security conference, it was learned yesterday, but has advised Prime Minister Mackenzie King that he will be unable to accept. It is expected Senator John Haig (PC-Manitoba) will replace Senator Ballantyne.

The delegation, headed by Mr. King, is expected to include Justice Minister St. Laurent; Gordon Graydon, Progressive house leader; M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader; Senator J. H. King, government leader in the Senate; and Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, Liberal member for Edmonton East.

Paul Martin, parliamentary assistant to Labor Minister Mitchell, also has been mentioned as a possible member of the delegation.

British Inflict Heavy Casualties On Nippon Force

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

CALCUTTA, March 30.—(BUP)—Armored columns of the British 14th Army have inflicted heavy casualties on the Japanese in the Meiktila area, 75 miles south of Mandalay, a communique said today.

The Japanese were forced to abandon Taungtha, 38 miles southwest of Meiktila, and the British were clearing remnants of resistance from caves on a hillside.

In the north, troops of the Chinese 50th Division captured two villages 15 miles southwest of the road junction of Loilem and Mongya.

The British 36th Division was reported approaching Kyaukme, 67 miles northeast of Maymo.

Eleven British Brigadiers Freed As Camp Seized

21st ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, March 30.—(AP)—The Allies overran an officers' prison camp yesterday and liberated 11 British brigadiers and three war correspondents, including Godfrey Anderson of the Associated Press, who was captured by the Germans in Africa.

The other two correspondents were Patrick Cross of Reuters News Agency and Edward Ward of BBC.

Anderson was a correspondent with the British 8th Army in Libya when the Italians captured him, Ward and Harold Denny of the New York Times, Nov. 22, 1941, in the desert regions around Sisi Omar. Denny was repatriated on the Drottningholm in an exchange in 1942.

About 100 officers and two brigadiers were captured at the same time.

TY NEWYDD LLANYSTUMDWY, Wales, March 30.—(CP)—Near the rippling river Dwyfor, Earl Lloyd George was buried today. Thousands of friends and neighbors gathered in silence on a sloping hillside and paid final homage.

The mass of floral tributes included one from Prime Minister Churchill.

Reopen Highways At Sault Locks

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., March 30.—(CP)—The thoroughfares leading to and surrounding the Sault locks have been opened to the public after nearly five years of traffic restrictions. United States Army Guards have now left the area, a noted pleasure and resting spot in the district.

No One to Blame In East Collision

GLENCOE, Ont., March 30—(CP)—A coroner's jury last night found no one to blame in an accident on March 8 in which William E. Bourne, 47, of Alvinston, Ont., was killed when his truck was hit by a west-bound Canadian Pacific Railway train. The jury recommended installation of a signal at the crossing as a protective measure.

Bomber Armadas Raid German Ports

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, March 30—(BUP)—More than 2,300 U.S. bombers and fighters raided Bremen, Hamburg and Wilhelmshaven today in the biggest American aerial attack yet made against German naval installations.

The assault by more than 1,400 Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by 900 fighter planes, apparently was a bid to cripple finally the German naval facilities and U-boat fleet bases.

The targets includes submarine building yards, naval vessels, oil storage and port facilities.

The attacks followed up raids last night by RAF mosquitoes on Berlin and other targets in northwest Germany.

The German capital had been hit for 36 successive nights until inclement weather halted the Mosquito operations Wednesday night.

High Winds

March winds threatened any spring bonnets which ventured out Friday, blowing at a rate of 22 miles an hour with gusts which reached a velocity of more than 50 miles an hour. Weather forecast for the Edmonton area is "Clear and mild tonight and Saturday, becoming bright and warmer in the afternoon."

Maximum temperature Thursday was 47 above zero, and the minimum overnight 37. At 2 p.m. it was 44 above, and the estimated high for today is 55; estimated low overnight is 35, and the high tomorrow, 50.

Large Manitoba Area Is Flooded

WINNIPEG, March 30.—(CP)—Thousands of acres of rich farm lands were under water in Manitoba last night following unusual spring floods and recent soaking rains.

One death has been reported as directly caused by floods and many residents have been forced to evacuate their homes.

Valdi Bjornson, 22-year-old Riverton, Man., youth, drowned Wednesday night when his truck overturned on a highway. Riverton is 70 miles north of Winnipeg on the western shore of Lake Winnipeg. His body was found in a ditch pinned beneath the truck.

Swollen waters of the Red and Seine rivers is causing havoc in St. Vital, a Winnipeg suburb. The former stream is reported to be 19.05 feet above normal.

Mactan and Cauit Islands Invaded By Yank Troops

By H. D. QUIGG
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MANILA, March 30—(BUP)—Elements of an American division secured the approaches to Cebu's big harbor in the central Philippines today with invasions of nearby Cault and Mactan islands.

The main city of Opon on Mactan island, where Magellan died in the 16th century, was seized by the assault troops while tiny Cault, a former seaplane base just outside Cebu Icty's harbor, was completely occupied.

At the same time other units of the American division continued to fan out on Cebu island against only disorganized Japanese resistance.

Protest Contract To Canadian Firm

WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—The senate small business committee disclosed today that it is investigating government contracts for Canadian aluminum.

Acting Chairman Kenneth Wherry made the announcement after Senator Guy Cordon (Rep., Ore.) protested to the committee that he had learned a new contract has been signed with the Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd.

"At this moment, pot lines in the United States are still down and the producing capacity is not being used," Senator Cordon said. He added that he understood the contract with Alcan called for delivery of 250,000,000 pounds beginning July 1 at a price ranging from 13 to 15 cents a pound, depending on the purity.

Senator Cordon said he was informed that aluminum could be produced at lower cost by American plants in the Pacific Northwest using government-produced power from Bonneville and Grande Coulee dams.

Plans Prepared

Allied Gains May Hasten Hitler's Flight to Bastion

By CHRISTER JAEDERLUND
Berlin Correspondent of the Stockholm Tidningen for 17 Years, Who Has Recently returned to Stockholm

STOCKHOLM, March 30.—(AP)—The Allied sweep eastward through Germany may hasten a development which many Germans have long expected. This is the withdrawal of Adolf Hitler, his lieutenants and fanatical Nazi followers, together with the flower of Nazi-educated German youth into the mountain bastion of Southern Germany.

From German sources during my stay in Berlin I received this account of Hitler's reported plan:

The area of the Bavarian Alps and the Tyrol long has been prepared for defence. The troops and their commanders have their orders. Members of all party organizations know their places in the final struggle.

Southern Germans often have told how mysterious columns of trucks rolled day and night through sealed mountain areas. Huge ammunition and supply dumps have been established for the great final battle.

It Says Here

HOLLYWOOD, March 30.—How about that prince accusing Gen. Eisenhower of taking a piano out of his parents apartment? Eisenhower needs a piano like Hirohito needs matches to start a fire. The only instrument the General plays is the harmonica, and he really doesn't play that. He just holds it up and the wind from Patton's passing makes the music. That Patton! He moves faster than one of Crosby's horses passing a glue factory. The prince who owned that piano was a Bourbon, but the way he complained it was more like Scotch. Can you imagine anybody accusing the head of our armies of stealing a piano? I suppose the next thing, Gen. Marshall will sign an armistice with the Germans because Eisenhower wouldn't practice an hour a day. It's only history repeating itself—Nero fiddled while Rome burned, and Eisenhower played the piano while Berlin burned.

Allied Armies Clamping Huge Pincers on Ruhr

weight of British armor which is pushing through a 15-mile corridor on the southwestern approaches to Muenster, and then are being taken on by the tough Canadian infantrymen who are proving to be more than a match for Hitler's finest troops.

REVOLT IMMINENT

War correspondents with the front line troops say that one of the greatest mass surrenders in history is in the making all along the Western front, and indications are that revolt against the Nazi regime is imminent.

So dazzling is the pace of British and U.S. armor as the tank crews race forward that communications with the rear fail temporarily at times, but the narrow escape gap is closing rapidly for the Germans, and the Ruhr valley is now cut off from the rest of Germany in the swiftest advance of the war.

Last night American tanks were reported 10 miles south of Paderborn, 186 miles west of Berlin, and only 65 miles from a junction with the British driving across the Westphalian plains north of the German coal and steel production centre. British tanks are advancing at the same headlong pace as the U.S. armor and it is expected that a junction will be effected during the day.

"HOLD FIRE" ORDER

So close are the British tanks on the heels of the fleeing German columns that today a dramatic "hold your fire" order was flashed to RAF fliers who are assisting in the drive. British tanks had broken into a huge German column, and the British ground attack was going ahead so rapidly that the tanks had run ahead of the "bomb lines", and the RAF bombing and strafing attacks had to be called off for a time at that point to avoid hitting British and Canadian troops.

Yesterday the German air force made its first appearance in strength since the attack opened. Their planes strafed and bombed the Allied advance in an effort to give the fleeing Nazi ground forces some relief, but as fast as they appeared over any section of the front British and American fighter squadrons smashed into them, sending them down in flames or causing them to streak for the rear, and German prisoners coming in are loud in their denunciation of the Luftwaffe.

WANT TO HOLD RUHR

That the Germans intended to hold the Rhur at all costs is evident from the huge stores of ammunition and other war material which is falling into the Allied hands. Trains, plane factories, tanks, guns, explosives, medical stores, mechanical transport and big dumps of engineer stores which the Germans were unable to salvage or destroy before the tide engulfed them are now in Allied hands.

In 1942 the Rhur produced 75 per cent. of all German military equipment and now the plants that were engaged in this work are almost entirely in Allied hands. Germany's industrial power is melting away, and the Germans themselves are writing off the entire Ruhr as lost, along with such cities as Essen, Hamm, Dortmund, Dusseldorf and Mulheim.

At the same time the British Second and American Ninth armies are advancing on roads to the northeast that might lead to or cut off such great German ports as Hamburg, Bremen and Wilhelmshaven.

THREATEN HANNOVER

Even yesterday, before Field Marshal Montgomery imposed his strict security blackout, his assault troops were declared to be threatening Hannover, 142 miles west of Berlin, and the major traffic centre of Osnabrueck.

All night long, British tanks, packed on top with Ninth Army troops, ran along open roads that lead to a rendezvous with the onrushing 1st American Army, meeting only with slight local resistance. When that junction is effected the Ruhr will be cut off entirely. Already the whole western front is broken and the heart of Germany exposed.

Vanguards of the First Army were reported in and perhaps beyond the communications centre of Paderborn, gateway to the north German plain, less than 40 miles from a juncture with Montgomery and 39 miles southwest of Hannover, 12th city of Hitler's disintegrating Reich.

DRIVE ON NUERNBERG

Unconfirmed reports again were heard that Third Army troops were racing southeastward for the Nazi shrine city of Nuernberg. A Brussels radio broadcast placed them 30 miles northwest of the city at a point about 85 miles southeast of Frankfurt.

Hodges' men raced northward over more than 100 miles of German roads almost without firing a shot. They reached the Paderborn area just 24 hours after the jump-off from Giessen at dawn yesterday.

General Patton's American Third Army to the southeast was loose in a drive headed for Leipzig and a possible juncture with the Red Army.

Radio Luxembourg said Patton's men were racing into the Thuringian forests on the road to Eisenach, 155 miles southwest of Berlin and 90 miles west of Leipzig.

NAZIS MELT AWAY

Both the First and Third Armies were pursuing a phantom German army that melted away at their approach. More than 33,000 German prisoners were swept up by the two American forces yesterday and British United Press war correspondent Robert Richards reported that the Nazis were falling over themselves in their rush to surrender.

The Third Army's prison cages were jammed with more than 150,000 captives rounded up in the eight-day advance beyond the Rhine, and the last major fighting force left to the enemy in western Germany was believed to comprise about 16,000 Germans reeling back before Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery's men in the north.

Censored field dispatches said Montgomery's men had hammered out gains running to ten miles and more in the past 24 hours, indicating they had reached an area south and perhaps southeast of Muenster where they would be 30 to 40 miles northwest of Hodges' First Army.

There was no disposition among high officers at Allied supreme headquarters to say the war would be won in a week—or in two weeks or two months.

But the story that was unfolding one dramatic day after another was that of the final stages of organized resistance by Germany.

The actual situation inside the severed and bomb-wracked Ruhr could not be accurately assayed, but it must be chaotic. In some places such as Duisburg the Americans met virtually no opposition. At others, such as the last six miles to Essen (660,000) and in the Rhine bastion of Emmerich—finally under Canadian control—there still was hard fighting.

SPEED ALONG ROADS

"The British 2nd Army is speeding down a number of highways in Central Germany," Ned Nordness, Associated Press war correspondent, was able to report.

Canadians captured Anholt and British troops advanced six miles northwest of the town into the Netherlands.

Bright sunshine bathes the British front, suggesting that the Germans will again be placed under heavy aerial attack.

During the night, armored spearheads of the U.S. 9th Army broke out into the clear and "took off on the high road across northern Germany," Robert Eunson, Associated Press war correspondent, reported.

7TH ARMY GAINS

The U.S. 7th Army, at the southern end of the active 225-mile front, has forces skirting southeast of captured Mannheim within three miles of the famous old university city of Heidelberg. Other columns well east of the Main river were headed on a straight line toward Nuernberg, 80-odd miles away.

Tank columns of the 3rd Army were pressing generally eastward toward Leipzig and the Russian lines, and beginning to reach more rugged terrain.

"All signs continue to point to a general collapse of the Wehrmacht remnants facing the 3rd Army," Thoburn Wiant, Associated Press war correspondent, reported.

"Many prisoners, including some of the high-ranking officers, are saying it is only a matter of days before Germany is finished."

U.S. naval forces in great strength have bombarded the Okinawa island, 380 miles from Japan proper, and effected landings. Those islands are nearly a thousand miles from Iwo, which is about 700 miles south of Tokyo. Eight Japanese ships have been sunk in northern Ryuku islands. Six great industrial plants at Nagoya were wrecked by Allied planes. The smashing of a hydro-electric plant on Formosa has crippled that island. The map of the Far East locates the Okinawa islands and Iwo. It shows in black the territory in the Philippines and elsewhere held by the Allies.

the safety of Canadian prisoners. In addition, all crews of Allied planes were being briefed most carefully concerning the location of prisoner-of-war camps in order to avoid as far as possible endangering the lives of prisoners.

Mr. King's statement was made in connection with one by Arthur Henderson, financial secretary to the British war office. Mr. Henderson told the British Commons yesterday the Japanese had placed Allied prisoner-of-war camps in Japan and Burma close to bombing targets in an effort to make them immune from bombing. This had been done despite repeated protests.

Prime Minister King's statement said that ever since 1943 the governments of the British Commonwealth, the United States and other United Nations had been greatly concerned by reports that many Japanese prisoner of war camps were located in dockyard and industrial quarters of the great Japanese metropolitan centres.

It added:

"The international convention relative to the treatment of prisoners-of-war provides 'that no prisoner may at any time be sent to an area where he could be exposed to the fire of the fighting zone, or be employed to render, by his presence, certain points or areas immune from bombardment.'

"At the request of the governments of the Commonwealth and of other United Nations, our protecting power (Switzerland) urged upon the Japanese that prisoners-of-war camps should be removed from an' areas which might constitute a military target. Since then, repeated protests have been made without effect. Camps continue to be situated near military and industrial installations in spite of the solemn Japanese statement that they are 'always very careful to establish camps outside danger areas.'"

Police Checking Jewel Robberies

Police investigations into two jewelry store robberies in the city early Thursday morning are continuing. The shops visited during the night were those of J. Glauser, 9442 118 avenue, and J. E. Fromant, 10359 97 street.

The last-named premises was robbed about a year ago, when several hundred dollars worth of jewelry was taken, to be subsequently recovered and the culprits sentenced to long terms of imprisonment.

Canucks Clear Germans Out Of Emmerich

Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa) entered Netterden, 2½ miles from Emmerich, and Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal and the South Saskatchewan Regiment were probing beyond the incompleted superhighway running northeast of Emmerich. One platoon of the Camerons on night patrol captured 88 prisoners.

MANY PRISONERS

The total haul of the Emmerich battle was several hundred prisoners, mostly from the 348th Infantry Division which came from northern Holland. The 6th Paratroop Division also has some troops in the Emmerich area.

In the fight for this key town on the Allied left flank, Canadian tanks lined up along the west bank of the Rhine across from the town and fired 110,000 high explosives in support of infantry pushing along the east bank.

The Germans seem to be preparing to fight a delaying action along the roads leading north and northwest from Emmerich and enemy artillery is firing from the Hochalten, a wooded slope north of the town.

NO SUDDEN COLLAPSE

There is not much hope for a sudden collapse of enemy resistance in this sector despite the British 2nd Army's phenomenal gains to the southeast. The Germans here have been ordered to fight to the finish.

The Canadians are faced with the usual tough left of the line flank task which has been their assignment since the fighting around Caen in Normandy last summer. The fog lifted this morning and the weather was comparatively clear, giving Allied bombers and fighters an opportunity to plaster targets ahead of the Canadians.

The Germans had compelled the Canadians to fight house-by-house and street-by-street through Emmerich, for it protects supply routes to their V-2 bases in Holland.

The 17th Canadian Hussars of Montreal late yesterday were patrolling two miles north of the main highway running into Emmerich from the east.

UNUSEABLE ROAD

The Hussars reached a superhighway but found it unuseable as it has been only partially completed.

The 17th Canadian Hussars is the 11th unit of the 3rd Canadian Division disclosed to be fighting east of the Rhine.

Meanwhile troops and material flooded over the Rhine across every bridge at Canadian disposal. Convoys rolled over the river bringing other formations, tanks, guns and trucks. Bumper-to-bumper the trucks line up behind the front or crowd into the fields awaiting the "go" signal that will loose a Canadian avalanche.

But for the moment the Canadians not engaged in battle are left to envy the British and American rampage eastward.

However, Canadians are represented in the British eastward surge. The 1st Canadian Paratroop battalion is sharing in it, riding on British tanks or using a conglomeration of captured vehicles. But nobody knows just where they are.

still holding out in northern Yugoslavia.

The Germans were reported massing troops along the Leite river line just a few miles in advance of Soviet spearheads for a last stand to save Vienna.

One Soviet column threatened to flank Vienna from the south.

Still another column, clearing the western tip of Hungary, was within five miles of the Austrian border and 40 miles southeast of Vienna.

DANZIG FALLS

Far to the north, the great Baltic port of Danzig fell into Soviet hands, a German army newspaper dispatch recorded by the FFC in the United States said. A Soviet communique last night reported only capture of the centre of the city and the greater part of its port area.

Taxation Report Submitted to Govt.

OTTAWA, March 30—(CP)—The Ives royal commission on taxation yesterday submitted its report to the government, it was learned here. It is considered likely the report will be tabled in parliament before the end of the present session. The commission was under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice W. C. Ives, former justice of the Alberta supreme court.

New "Sure-Victory" Party Is Created By Jap Government

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30—(AP)—The Imperial Rule Assistance Society, Japanese totalitarian party created three years ago by ex-premier Gen. Hideki Tojo to strengthen civilian support for his war machine, was dissolved today and supplanted by a new one party organization, the Political Association of Great Japan.

The new, "sure-victory" party was created in response to persistent criticism of Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso's war policies. It is headed by Gen. Jiro Minami, member of the ruling Kwantung army clique and of the supreme war council.

Trial in Absentia Of Marshal Petain To Start April 24

NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—The trial in absentia of Marshal Petain, Vichy government head during the German occupation of France, will begin April 24, L'Agence Francaise de Press said today in a broadcast dispatch reported by the federal communications commission. The trial will be conducted before a special French "purge court". Petain now is head of a puppet French regime set up by the Nazis in Germany.

ARTIST CRAFTSMAN REPAIRS SILVER—In contrast with the heat, clangor and din surrounding the leather-aproned smith in the railway blacksmith shop, Ernest Rose, above, Canadian Pacific smithy for the past 12 years, goes about his work in a white smock and cap in the comparative quiet of his turret quarters in the Royal Hotel, Toronto. Mr. Rose is a silversmith, and as illustrated here, his work-a-day tasks consist of reconditioning the thousands of pieces of silverware and flatware used by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in its hotel dining rooms and restaurants. Scratched and dented teapots, cream jugs, viande platters and battered spoons are "meat" for Mr. Rose and his staff who take pride in their ability to stack their combined skills against the most disreputable looking piece of silver and turn it out looking like new. Under his Aladdin's lamp he has repaired an average of 1,800 pieces of silverware and some 18,000 pieces of flatware a year.

German General, Prisoner-of-War, Commits Suicide

CAMP FORREST, Tenn., March 30—(AP)—Lt.-Gen. Karl Buelowins, 55-year-old German prisoner of war patient at the prisoner of war hospital here hanged himself in his room two days ago, the camp publice relations office announced yesterday.

The announcement said that he used two leather straps from his brief case.

A member of the German Afrika Corps, Gen. Buelowins was captured by an armored corps near Bizerte, Tunisia, in May 1942 and was later transferred to the Camp Forrest hospital for treatment of a psychiatric condition.

Perry Monument Being Destroyed By Proof-Firing

PUT-IN BAY, O., March 30—(AP)—The Perry monument commemorating the American victory over a British squadron in the war of 1812, battle of Lake Erie, apparently is becoming a war casualty. Vibrations from incessant proof-firing of big guns at the army's Erie proving grounds, 14 miles southwest, have damaged homes on South Bass Island, and now cracks are appearing in the 352-foot monument, second tallest in the world. Only the Washington monument in the nation's capital is taller.

Soviet Delegation To U.S. Conference Below Expectations

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(CP)—Moscow yesterday gave internationalists something new to worry about when the Soviet government announced its delegation to the San Francisco World Security Conference would be at a lower level than that of any of the 44 United Nations which have named their representatives.

Andrei Gromyoko, Soviet ambassador to the United States, will lead a delegation of departmental branch heads, without a minister or under-secretary in the group.

All other major powers and probably every other country to be represented will have delegations headed by foreign ministers or higher-level representatives.

have no cause for great hopes" and that "famous ray of light appears nowhere on the horizon".

Lt.-Gen. Kurt Dittmar, the high command's military commentator, struck one of the two notes of terror.

"Is there any sense in continuing the fight?" he asked in a broadcast, and then answered himself at once: "our enemy wants to annihilate the entire nation and himself gives the answer—we must fight to the last".

At the same time, the Berlin radio drove home the second point in the terror campaign.

It boasted that "German freedom fighters" had slain Franz Oppenhof, Allied-appointed mayor of occupied Aachen, and said another "traitor" and his whole family were killed in an explosion at Meutzenich, south of Aachen.

Russia, States Each Ask Three Assembly Votes

WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—As the result of a secret agreement by the Big Three at Yalta, Russia and the United States will ask for three votes each in the United Nations assembly to be proposed at the San Francisco security conference next month.

The White House made this announcement yesterday. It immediately threatened a split in the American delegation to the conference. It seemed likely also to become a focal point of small nation opposition to big power domination of the international organization.

SPLIT POSSIBILITY

The possibility of a split appeared in a statement by Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.), a member of the delegation, who said:

"I would deeply disagree with any voting proposal, if made, which would destroy the 'sovereign equality of nations' in the peace league's assembly, as previously proposed at Dumbarton Oaks".

OTTAWA, March 30—(CP)—The proposal that Russia and the United States each be given three votes in the assembly of the proposed permanent United Nations organization was not news to external affairs department officials but was never mentioned during a week-long discussion in the House of Commons which ended Wednesday.

Official circles had no comment but there was a disposition to regard the proposal as not important and not likely to affect the workings of the international organization it is proposed to create at the San Francisco conference.

Combined U.S., British Forces Blast Ryukyus

four of the planes and "a number" of the boats were destroyed. There was no mention of any damage to the attacking fleet units.

A self-contained task force of the British Pacific fleet, including some of the mightiest warships afloat, teamed up with the United States Pacific fleet for the first time in the Central Pacific in the strikes against the Ryukyus.

Observers here said the British force was using "revolutionary methods of operation" to carry out the first long-range strike it has ever attempted.

POWERFUL VESSELS

British carrier planes flying from "some of the most powerful ships in the British Navy" blasted enemy airfield installations in the Sakishima group of Japan's Ryukyu islands, which stretch along the southern approach to the mainland.

The attack indicated a marked change from previous methods of supply. Never before has the British fleet used a "floating supply train" on a scale large enough to permit such a long-range operation.

News that the British task force was co-operating with the United States 5th fleet came as Tokyo reported that at least 500 carrier planes had pounded southern Japan for 10 hours yesterday. They concentrated on targets that included the Sasebo and Kube naval bases in what the enemy insisted "must be considered part of the strategic plan to support the Okinawa operation."

CLAIM 100-SHIP FLEET

Tokyo claimed that a fleet of "more thaan 100 warships, with about 10 battleships as its mainstay," was cruising the waters of Okinawa, screening still another task force including "more than 10 aircraft carriers."

There has been no Allied confirmation of any landings in the Ryukyus.

Admiral Nimitz's communique disclosed that 20 Japanese aircraft and one small coastal vessel were destroyed and several damaged. The town of Ohama in the Sakishima group was left aflame.

Disregarding discussion on three continents of the question whether British and American ships are technically able to operate side by side, British carriers are fully prepared to operate as a completely self-contained, self-supplied, self-serviced independent task force.

FIRST REAL OFFENSIVE

That is what they have done in this first real British fleet offensive against the Japanese empire.

The British warships are under the operational control of Admiral Raymond A. Spruance, commander of the 5th fleet.

The British force is a part of the British Pacific fleet which is commanded by Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser.

The British force engaged is commanded by Vice Admiral Sir Bernard Rawlings of the Royal Navy with Rear Admiral Sir Philip Vian commanding the carriers. The force includes some of the most powerful combat vessels in the Royal Navy.

Admiral Vian, hero of many Royal Navy exploits, is best remembered as commander of the destroyer Cossack which rescued British merchant seamen from the German "hell ship" Altmark off Norway early in 1940.

The Sakashima islands are about 250 miles east of the northern tip of Formosa. They are southeast of Okinawa, principal island in the Ryukyus.

Included in these supplementary cards which contained coupons larger than those now being issued, are long leave ration cards used by armed forces; temporary ration cards used by tourists and others; transient labor rations cards issued last year to farmers; preserves "D" coupons given to housewives last fall in exchange for "F" canning sugar coupons and all other coupons of the old large size.

All supplementary ration cards issued since No. 5 ration books, have been small in size and stamped with a beaver design.

Reinvestigation Of Oakes Murder Case Is Urged

MONTREAL, March 30—(CP)—Alfred de Marigny, acquitted by a Bahamas jury on a charge of murdering Sir Harry Oakes, his father-in-law, in 1943, said here last night in an interview that he would favor a reinvestigation of the case.

Mr. de Marigny, who came here to spend a two-week holiday with his wife, the former Nancy Oakes, was commenting on a statement made Wednesday in Miama, Fla., that the resignation of the Duke of Windsor as governor of the Bahamas might open the way for a new investigation of the murder case. The statement was made by Detective Raymond C. Schindler, who was retained, following the murder, by Nancy de Marigny in behalf of her husband.

"INFLUENCE" NEEDED

He added that only his wife, who had to leave her husband here to consult specialists in New York city, "could have had enough influence on the government of the Bahamas to reopen the case after my acquittal.

"However, the government has shown its complete unwillingness to do so, as it was reported that the attorney-general speaking on behalf of the government said that as far as it was concerned the case was closed."

He recalled that his brother-in-law, Sir Sydney Oakes, had discussed the matter of reinvestigation with the Duke of Windsor but "nothing has been done so far."

A change of government in the Bahamas will not make any difference, Mr. de Marigny said. "It is a well-known fact that too many people in Nassau would be involved in the reopening of the case."

He added:

OFFICIALS MOVED

"Nearly all the officials mixed up in the case have been moved out of Nassau and dispersed through the Empire, starting with the chief of police himself who was removed from office and sent to Trinidad just a few days before the case opened in supreme court."

Announce Names Of Missing Crew

MONTREAL, March 30.—(CP)—The RAF Transport Command announced today that a seven-man crew was aboard the Liberator, "Commando" when she disappeared off the Azores Tuesday with high-ranking British officials bound for Canada.

Wing Cmdr. W. H. Biddell, head of No. 231 (Long Range Communications) squadron, was pilot of the aircraft. Release of the names of six other crew members made it definite that 14 persons were aboard the plane which was carrying Cmdr. Rupert Brabner, British undersecretary of state for air.

Other crew members:

FO. Aubrey Norman Brodie, RAF, co-pilot, Montreal and Birmingham, Eng.

Flt. Lt. David Buchanan, RCAF, navigator, of Point Claire, Que., and Trail, B.C.

Flt. Lt. Kenneth George Shea, RAAF, joint-navigator, Montreal and North Fitzroy, Victoria, N.S.W.

WO. Douglas James Spence, RCAF, of Montreal and Vancouver, flight engineer.

Radio Officer Frederick Walter Williams, Gloucester, Eng.

Flight Steward Victorian Banister, Milford, Eng.

Flt. Lt. Buchanan, 29, a native of Battleford, Sask., was goalie for Trail Smoke Eaters when they won the Allan Cup in 1936 and toured Europe.

Yanks Evacuate Chinese Air Base Before Jap Drive

CHUNGKING, March 30.—(AP)—The Americans abandoned their air base at Laohokow, 200 miles northwest of Hankow, on March 26, U.S. headquarters announced today.

The field was evacuated in the face of a push by a Japanese force estimated at 80,000 men. That the enemy may now have reached Laohokow was indicated by an announcement yesterday that U.S. 14th Air Force bombers attacked a town only five miles to the northeast.

The new enemy drive, unless checked, eventually may menace either Sian, in Shensi Province 200 miles northwest of Laohokow, or Chungking, 400 miles to the southwest.

Said Secret—Deadly Weapon

Tiny Gadget Foe's Last Hope

PORTLAND, Ore., March 30.—(AP)—A member of the Dutch underground declared yesterday that the Nazis do have a secret—and deadly effective—weapon.

Here under auspices of The Netherlands information bureau, he told an interviewer that the European front now is a race between victory for the Allies and Germany's resort to the ultimate weapon.

"The new weapon, a tiny gadget which could be placed in a rocket bomb, may be launched with complete effectiveness against the continental United States," The Netherlander said.

He declared that the Germans are saving it for a last stand. "They are confident that their secret weapon will wipe out civilization and save them at the very end."

He said the weapon does not involve poison gas.

operated in St. Boniface by the St. Boniface Radio Limited under the presidency of Dr. Henri Guyot. It is expected the station will be in operation during the summer.

Last week a Winnipeg dispatch quoted the Winnipeg Free Press as saying that preservation of the French language from extinction in western Canada was the declared objective of a campaign to build four 1,000-watt stations on the prairies. The paper said the aims of the western French radio movement were to be found in a "catechism" sponsored by an organization known as Radio-Guest Francise (Western French radio).

STUDY APPLICATIONS

Commenting on the dispatch, a CBC spokesman said at the time that the CBC had under consideration applications for three French language radio stations in the west, at Gravelbourg and Prince Albert in Saskatchewan and at Edmonton.

These licenses were still pending but a license had been granted a French language station at St. Boniface, Man.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, Alberta public minister of works, was quoted in an Edmonton dispatch as saying that any decision by the CBC to grant a commercial broadcasting license to a French language station at Edmonton would be studied with "grave concern" by the Alberta government.

BABY IS BORN IN IRON LUNG AS SHELLS FALL

By MARGARET ECKER

NIJMEGEN, Holland, March 30.—(CP)—While shells were still pounding Nijmegen from German fortifications across the Maas river, a baby was born inside an iron lung where its mother was placed with infantile paralysis a few weeks before. The baby is normal and the mother now is recovering.

The machine was built by a Netherlands engineer of his own design and is like the white, streamlined cabin of a small plane. Besides the patient's bed there is room for the nurse to enter.

The engineer said recovery is speeded greatly by the larger lung, from which it is not necessary to remove the patient for treatment.

Good Police Material

Montreal is to add 500 returned men to the city police force. They will be put on probation for six months, and those found to be suitable then given places on the permanent force. This is a lead which cities across Canada might well follow. Getting recruits for police forces has been one of their wartime problems. Veterans who return without disabilities should prove a satisfactory source from which to fill gaps in police ranks. Discipline is discipline, whether in an army or in a police force, and those who have become used to it have one strong qualification for choice.

In Edmonton and many other cities there are and long have been Corps of Commissionaires, composed of veterans of World War No. 1. These men have done excellent service, both during the present war and before it, guarding public and private property. The record and prestige of these auxiliaries is evidence that good police material can be found in the ranks of returned men. Certainly there are none who have a better claim to an opportunity to prove their fitness.

Canada Will Be There

There was never any doubt that parliament would agree to send a delegation to San Francisco, and would accept the Government resolution as broadly satisfactory to that end. A good deal of the critical speech-making had little or nothing to do with the actual proposal. Much of it was by way of getting what publicity was to be got through the re-statement of irrelevant creeds and theories. The shadow of the coming election fell across the House, naturally, and inspired to oratory.

In the end only five members voted that Canada have nothing to do with the conference. Just why these wanted the Dominion to stand aloof they did not succeed in making very clear, except by inference. The attitude is the more strange because the gathering is not to be a war conference, but a conference to prevent war. That, one would suppose, would have the hearty support of men who argue that Canada should have stayed out of this war and the former one. As aloofers the lonely five are not very consistent. They don't want Canada to fight, but won't do anything to help keep fights from getting started.

A Housing Atlas

The Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, has performed a noteworthy service for this community in having prepared and published a housing atlas which gives valuable data for the study of the housing situation in Edmonton.

Compiled on Mr. MacKinnon's instructions by the Dominion statistician, this atlas gives all the facts necessary for a complete understanding of the need for accommodations here.

Besides a general factual statement on the situation, it contains many interesting tables showing the comparative percentages of monthly rentals, the average tenure of tenancy, the value of owner-occupied homes, details of tax payments, rooms per dwelling, heating systems and many other useful items of information.

A special feature of the atlas is a series of city maps which show population densities in various parts of Edmonton, proportion of wage-earner households, districts where households are most crowded, the incidence of doubled-up families, family earnings, prevailing levels of housing and conveniences, rent levels in various sections, and many other details.

If the first step towards solving a problem is to secure full information about it, this atlas will be of inestimable benefit to this community.

Mr. MacKinnon is to be congratulated upon a happy and useful thought.

Another Kind of March

Ten days ago correspondents in neutral countries, who got out because they preferred to go on living, reported that Germany had become a great refugee area, in which twenty million people were milling about in a hopeless quest for safety from falling bombs. Their testimony was confirmed by the Berlin radio, which relayed orders to the migrating multitude that they must register at whatever towns they happened to pass through in their gyrations.

Then came the break-through in the west, and the radio changed to bleating instructions to German soldiers who had "lost touch" that they should rejoin their units—if, when and as they could find the units. To the throngs of wandering civilians have been added, as so affirmed, thousands of men in uniform no less bewildered—and probably none too anxious to rejoin.

Thus what began as civilian flights from the frontier areas is fast developing into a general state of flux, which is the transition stage on the road to chaos. It used to be said that airplanes could not win the war. Perhaps so. But five to eight thousand planes cutting swathes of destruction across the country every day are rapidly reducing Germany to a state which can neither continue to make war nor support its population.

The "march to the east" is resulting in a nation on the tramp.

—V—

Another Canadian corvette has been sunk by enemy action, when or where is not announced. The Trentonian is the 10th ship of its class to be lost. Again there is proof of the fine discipline of the navy in the fact that only six men were lost out of a ship's company numbering 101.

—V—

On Sunday 6,000 Allied planes bombed and strafed enemy positions behind the battleline east of the Rhine. Only 35 planes were lost, one in each 171, though the action went on all day. That strikingly demonstrates what has happened to the luftwaffe, and also to the ground defences in that area.

—V—

Women nurses are to be drafted in the United States. We may come to that in Canada, likely will unless nurses who have retired go back to the job for a time and large numbers of young women get into training. There will have to be more nurses in future than were required before the war, and there were not enough then.

—V—

It is the fashion for a new government to rate its own judgment highly. The Government of Saskatchewan is no exception. Without further explanation it called on the legislature to appropriate $500,000 "for industries that we consider will be of interest to the people and economically feasible." With no other strings attached, the money could be used to start fad enterprises, help friends out of holes, and pay for concerns which shrewd promoters wanted to unload. It may not be the intention of the Douglas Government to do any of these things. But, without the safeguard of having each deal critically examined in the legislature before parting with cash, the ministers will be lucky if they are not led into doing some of them.

Critchley was elected over Lucas in West Calgary by a majority of three.

The Manitoba Legislature will adjourn for a week to allow the government time to consider what course should be taken in view of the order from Ottawa that remedial legislation be passed restoring Separate schools.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper has resigned from the Dominion cabinet because the premier refused to appeal to the country on the remedial order in the Manitoba school case. He declined, he said, to agree to a course that would throw the question on the floor of Parliament as a football. Moreover, he believed that if the government took the responsibility of introducing a remedial law they would be defeated in the House. He would not approve Parliament usurping the functions of a Provincial Legislature and enacting a school law. He thought the government should go to the country and ask for a mandate to pass a remedial law, or should leave the matter alone.

Canada's Problem of Foodstuffs

United Nations Concerned About Shortages Which Are Acute

By J. J. DEUTSCH

The supply of foodstuffs during the coming year has become a matter of urgent concern to the governments of the United Nations. The prospective deficiency in the supplies of meat is the main cause for anxiety. The United States authorities have announced that, starting April 1, meat supplies for civilians in that country will be reduced by 12 per cent. At the same time it was stated that American shipments of meat to the United Kingdom will be cut by 87 per cent during the next quarter. Prime Minister Churchill has told the British House of Commons that large portions of Europe may face partial or even total famine next winter and that Britain's own foodstocks will sink to minimum levels. Churchill is also reported to have said that the prospective European famine was one reason for accelerating military operations. The British Minister of Food has refused to promise that there would not be a reduction in the already small British meat ration within the next six months.

These developments turn the spotlight on Canada. The great expansion in the production of foodstuffs has been one of Canada's outstanding contributions to the war effort of the United Nations. Canadian farmers, whose efforts throughout the war have been magnificent, are about to begin the planting of another crop. We must ask whether the directions and policies of the Government are such as to encourage the farmers to produce the foodstuffs of which we and our Allies stand in the most urgent need.

The first matter to be examined in this connection is the recently announced policy regarding wheat. The Government has decided to increase substantially the returns which western farmers will receive from wheat. In effect, the price for all but the relatively small portion used for home consumption has been brought to nearly $1.50 per bushel, basis Fort William. The announcement was surrounded by a great maze of technicalities, but this is what it amounts to. The increase is to apply to that part of the supply of wheat which is used for mutual aid and relief, and therefore is paid for with taxpayers' money.

This policy is bound to have important repercussions on the nature of agricultural production in the Prairie Provinces. It is widely expected that the increase in the returns from wheat, coming on top of the shortage of labor and the growing strain on the agricultural population, will result in a further expansion in wheat acreage at the expense of animal feedstuffs and livestock production. It is clear that such a development would be directly contrary to the real needs of the situation.

In the present anxiety respecting the supplies of foodstuffs no mention is made of wheat. In fact, the supplies of this cereal are, to say the least, fully adequate. At the Dominion-provincial agricultural conference of last December, farmers were asked to reduce the acreage in wheat and to increase output of livestock and dairy products. Ever since ministers and officials have asked the farmers to plan production accordingly.

The Minister of Agriculture has made repeated pleas for the maintenance of hog production. The other day the deputy Minister of Agriculture is reported to have said: "We are in danger of being even longer on wheat and even shorter on meat than we were at the time of the conference". It is impossible to understand how the Government's wheat policy can be made to jibe with these official appeals. Meanwhile, hog marketings in the Prairie Provinces are already substantially down from last year.

It is true the Government has said that wheat marketings will be limited definitely to 14 bushels per acre. This limitation, however, cannot by itself accomplish the production of livestock and dairy products. When labor is short and farmers are tired, it is all the more necessary that the available effort be devoted as fully as possible to what is needed most. Under such circumstances it is nonsense to rely upon indirection.

It is said also that moisture conditions on the prairies are not too good, and consequently it is likely that the coming wheat crop may not in any event exceed 14 bushels per acre in many areas. However, it is obvious that a shortage of moisture would affect the output of feedstuffs and livestock just as severely, if not more so, than wheat. If more taxpayers' money is needed to assist the farmers, it should be used to maintain the most essential output. If there is a drouth, failure to do this will mean that the reduction in the most urgently required foods will be greater than it would have needed to be.

It is hoped that prairie farmers nevertheless will devote their efforts to an even greater output of coarse grains and livestock products rather than to an increase in wheat because of immediate economic and other incentives. In this way prairie agriculture would continue to make its greatest contribution to the common war effort, to the sustenance of the British people, and to the alleviation of the sufferings of liberated peoples of Europe. Also, it would be in its best long-term interest after the war.

The War's Effect on Manners

By I. Norman Smith in the Ottawa Journal

"New York, New York, it's a helluva town" is the opening line of the opening song of the newest musical show "On the Town."

It is a helluva town these days. The war has got it down. New York is crowded, ill-humored, and selfish; it is tired of pushing and shoving and is expressing that discontent by more pushing and shoving.

The labor shortage has struck this town of 7,600,000 people far more visibly than, say, Ottawa. It has, too, a good many war shortages. These shortages aren't comparable to London's, but then London has undergone fire and knows it is good to be alive. This New York, far from the front and itself quite without unity or any family spirit, is different from any place on earth. It is doing a helluva big war job, but it is making a helluva stink about it, too.

Even in peace days it was inexcusable for a Canadian to judge the United States by what he found in New York. Today the gulf is still wider. This being stated, a picture of this vast metropolis in wartime is submitted—with emphasis on its mood and manners.

It is 10:30 Sunday morning. A moment ago I heard a chambermaid shout in to a room that if the occupant wasn't out of there by eleven he could "damn well make your own bed." Those mile-long soda fountains have perhaps three attendants, and you eat not only when they choose to serve you but what they find easiest to put up. There may still be good service at the twenty-dollar places—but why not?

The service trades are on the top. Taxi drivers handpick their fares and state the rules. In Boston when my driver admitted he was lost in searching out a Cambridge address, I asked him, meekly, after he had circled a district a couple of times, if he would be interested in letting his meter coast for a bit. He didn't see it that way, told me he figured it was up to the occupant to know where he was going, not up to the driver. "I'm a stranger here," I replied. "That's your hard luck, bud, this car moves with the meter going."

It wasn't a fight. We were both good-humored. He just knew he was top man—and so did I. (My bags were heavy ones.) Some people believe this new confidence and independence of the service trades is here to stay. They say it is born of union strength rather than war labor shortage. Oddly enough, though, for the most part they are not taking this increase in their status with anything resembling a smile.

There is a belligerency abroad in New York, and to a lesser extent in Boston, and perhaps in all large American cities, that puzzles a visitor. There are few smiles. The elevator man who says "Floors, please," is a rarity. He stands there sullenly, lying in wait for the forgetful one who doesn't call out his number and then merrily sails him to the top of the skyscraper and stops at each floor on the way down just to see if anyone is waiting. This didn't happen to me but I know one building where it is a stunt known to all residents.

Tempers are short all around. A waiter bawled out an elderly lady to a fare-thee-well the other day because she had dared to ask if she might have her check. When I asked a kindly-looking station superintendent in Boston what time the New York train was made up he launched into a tirade beginning with "How should I know?" He told me in some heat about the war job the railways had on their hands and how he himself had had no supper and that I was lucky to get a train at all. . . .

It seems that these unfortunate people serving the public have been abused and kicked around so much down here that they have finally gone tired and sour on the whole business. Listening to the manner of some of the public questions one can sympathize with the trades people. The man ordering a ham sandwich and coffee puts his request in about the same tone and temper as the old-time movie bandit inviting a citizen to "Stick 'em up." So he gets it back in much the way he deserves. The result is, however, that the polite question falls on similar ground. The friendly request is so rare that it is embarrassing and people don't like being embarrassed.

All this is not, I might say, simply the first reaction of the harried country bumpkin. New Yorkers admit the general condition if you corner them, though they don't pretend to be alarmed. Almost they seem to set their teeth and imply that if folks want to make a fight of living then okey, let's fight.

It is as though New Yorkers have been jostled against each other, mentally and physically, in such close and turbulent conditions for so many years that they are now conditioned to do battle. Their sensitive feelers have all been rubbed off or blunted into

Post War Policy of the French

By GRANT DEXTER

Since the liberation of France there has been much written by Frenchmen and others on the past and future of that country. Why did France fall? What of the future? This is a time for deep thought by a people that have suffered cruelly.

This current discussion on France covers a wide range. But there is one aspect which turns up in practically all of it and which is of interest in Western Canada. This aspect is the past and future policy of France with regard to agriculture. For example, is the policy of high tariff on foreign wheat to be continued, or should France encourage the import of cheap foodstuffs?

Typical of this discussion are two articles. Henri Peyre writes in the autumn number of the Political Science Quarterly, and Charles A. Micaud and Robert Strausz-Hupe collaborate in an article in the Yale quarterly. Two recent Oxford pamphlets on world affairs cover the ground in less detail. The Peyre article gives a useful bibliography of recent writing on French agriculture.

It is agreed that France was unable to stand up against Germany —Maginot Line and all—because she had failed to equip herself for modern war. France long ago chose to remain a nation of peasants and workers in small industries. In the sense of the United Kingdom, the United States and Germany, the industrial revolution passed by France. Many explanations are given. No doubt a predominantly agriculture economy was understandable prior to 1918 when France lacked coal and iron, but with the recovery of Lorraine in 1918 this excuse no longer held. Mr. Peyer puts this point as follows:

"The real division of the French went deeper. A good many of them refused to accept the modern world. They distrusted industry, mass production, machinery, efficiency, workmen and their social claims. They clung to a sentimental worship of the peasant and of the artisan, to outmoded military conceptions. The dilemma was a tragic one. Was France to fall to the level of Spain, obstinately averse to the modern world? Or was she to modernize her economy, to develop her industry, to fight for export markets and gradually to raise the standard of living and probably the number of her inhabitants?"

Micau and Strausz-Hupe place a more political interpretation on past policy. The conservative right, fearing radicalism, exalted the peasant and insisted upon a policy of agricultural preference. And the army, strongly Rightist in sympathy, favored an army of peasants rather than of mechanics.

The facts are not in dispute. France shunned heavy industry, framed her policies to protect the peasant landowners. Industrialization, with all it meant in modern war, changed the balance of military power, after 1815, strongly against France. It was so in 1870-71. In 1914-18, France's great industrialized allies saved the day. In 1939-40, France opposed an army, largely unmechanized, to the German panzer divisions, and lost. Of the leaders of the army only de Gaulle and a few others saw the light. "The lonely champion of mechanized warfare was right in preferring an army of mechanics to one of shopkeepers and peasants."

The lesson, and its importance will be appreciated by prairie farmers, is that industrial potential is more important in modern warfare than self-sufficiency in foodstuffs.

The consequences of this error are traced in detail. The state conceived its first duty to be to protect agriculture against foreign foodstuffs. This meant tariffs. Agriculture became increasingly inefficient, and rigid in methods. Still higher tariffs were forthcoming. Thus, prior to the war, foreign wheat (and much higher quality wheat) was laid down at Le Havre and Marseilles at one-third the cost of home-grown wheat. The tariff was 200 per cent.

Apply this policy across the board and the result was high cost of foodstuffs. Industrial workers had to be compensated by high wages and this, in turn, raised the price of manufactures to the point where French industry could not compete in world markets. Lack of markets meant that France could not achieve mass production.

The French people, it is argued, began to see the folly of their past policy soon after the fall of 1940. Petain's policy of "return to the land" sufficed for a time. But the conquered detected a great similarity between Petain's "return to the land" and the propaganda issued by the Nazis. And they came to realize that the role of a peasant people enslaved to an industrialized Germany had already been assigned to them by Hitler in Mein Kampf. Frenchmen saw that they must either give up the "agrarian myth" or cease even to be a second-rate power.

Today there is said to be agreement as to future policy. France is going to become a highly industrialized country. Agriculture must follow the pattern of Belgium, Holland and Denmark, and specialize in dairy products and the perishable products which cannot be imported cheaply. The staple foods, including wheat, are to be bought abroad more cheaply than they could be produced at home and will be paid for by exports of manufactured goods. "The policy of self-sufficiency must be abandoned for one of international cooperation and union."

A Word About Scots in Canada

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The legislature of British Columbia has lately displayed a distressing ignorance of us Scots. Mrs. Laura Jamieson, MLA, says that Canada has not yet assimilated either the Japanese or "the descendants of the wild Highlanders who, a few centuries ago, offered human sacrifices on stone mounds in Scotland." The fact, of course, is that we Scots have not quite assimilated the Canadians yet. But we will. Give us a little more time.

On the whole, I feel that we have treated the Canadians with a fine tolerance and a minimum of racial prejudice. We always employed them, at reasonable wages, since the earliest days. We hired them to paddle our fur-trade canoes and we played our bagpipes all day to encourage their labors. When we built our railways we always employed the Canadians to lay the track and haul the gravel. We never held their birth against them when it came to giving them jobs. But small thanks have we received from Canadians like Mrs. Jamieson.

Nay, we introduced the Canadians to our most sacred rite. We taught them to drink our whiskey. Under its mellow influence the Canadians have sometimes risen almost to our level, even members of the British Columbia legislature. And if, as Mrs. Jamieson alleges, there has been a falling off in Canadian culture lately, you can blame the present wartime shortages in the essentials of a cultured life.

How patiently we have toiled to uplift the Canadians to our level! Not by pressing our culture upon them, not by dictation from the top like the Germans, but by the fine example of humility from the bottom. Never by word or hint do we suggest our superiority. We go about this country as if we were merely Canadians ourselves, asking no recognition and no favors, just letting our Scotch ooze quietly into the veins of society and glad to let it ooze into ours whenever we are invited.

And how modestly do we display, almost with apology, the sublime talent of our race! Once a year only, on Burns Night, we hold aloft the torch of our genius so that the barbarian in the far wasteland may see it for a moment and, perhaps, strive for better things. We have never sought to force our language upon these races. We talk the Gaelic only among ourselves. We do not compel the schools to teach it. We do not demand bi-lingualism as well we might. And the Canadian is even free to reject the Haggis. We merely present that great chieftain of the pudding race and the Canadian can partake of its glory or not as he pleases. If he prefers his crude native dishes, we sigh a little, but we do not protest. We only pity him.

In politics we are equally humble. It is well known that we have been managing the nation's business since the Battle of the Plains, that we have supplied most of the prime ministers of Canada and a majority of the cabinet ministers, and the House of Commons has always been under our control. But we have never been corrupted by power. We take other races into our cabinets, we let them hold all but the highest posts, where special talents are required. We never called ourselves the Master Race. We didn't have to.

Could any conquerors be more kind and humane? Does human history hold the record of any dominant race which treated the lesser breeds so compassionately? We are a modest, quiet, unobtrusive people, content to hold our innocent banquets and outdoor sports, to play our pipes in secret and wear the kilt on rare occasions, while most of the time we carry the awful responsibility of the country on our backs without complaint.

It may take us some time to assimilate all the Canadians, particularly the Jamiesons, but we are patient, when they are ready for it, we intend, by statute law, to grant the Canadians equality of status with us and to share the burdens of government with them. But if the legislature of British Columbia is a sample of Canadian thought, that time is still far off.

—V—

Calling at the doctor's house, a visitor met the young son at the gate.

"Is your father in?" he asked.

"No; he's out giving an anaesthetic."

"That's a big word for such a small boy. Do you know what it means?"

"Yes," replied the youngster coldly. "It means two guineas to us."

hard round knobs or sharpened into spikes. They go into the day's battle dressed like a footballer with shoulder pads, steel toes and hard helmet.

To some extent, no doubt, this is a guise or affection. Still, if they don't give their fellows a chance to see below that guise it is as potent as though it were the real thing.

That all this should happen in this great land of liberty is perhaps not accidental. A Chicagoan tells me Chicago people are about as bad. It seems that the process of freedom or the development of American democracy is going through a phase of mistrust and contempt, made more acute by the hardships and nerve strain of war.

The underdogs have worked themselves out of the sweat shops. Higher wages, shorter hours, broader education, better health—these things have enabled those who have done without them to look their oppressors in the eye and say, "I'm as good as you and I won't take any lip". The oppressors, to use the term loosely, look upon the newcomers with considerable distrust and resentment and say, "You may have money, but please keep your place".

Neither of these attitudes makes for happiness, smooth living or right-functioning democracy. Both sides are at fault, yet both impulses are normal and human. Probably both must relax a bit and take it easy.

Why all this wordage about New York manners? Because I believe awareness of this situation will be necessary to an understanding of many of the serious problems and even conflicts that in the oncoming years will meet this whole continent.

When in the early history of the development of British democracy it became apparent that it was not sufficient to give everyone a vote if most of the voters were uneducated it was Pitt, I believe, who observed that "We must educate our masters".

Today in New York, probably in all large American cities, and possibly to a considerable extent throughout all Canada and United States, there may be a similar dangerous stretch of territory over which the marching feet of democracy must tread with something more than courage. Our social legislation has been written on the books and translated into payrolls and working conditions. What comes now—what has already come to New York City—is the vital business of translating it into human relations.

The folks from the other side of the tracks have been invited to join the party. The social questions of the age are: (1) Will they be kindly received? (2) will they come in friendliness? New York's answers to both questions are not heartening. Is it safe for others to shrug and dismiss this as a characteristic and exclusively New York phenomenon?

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean
SPORTS EDITOR

MOOSE JAW'S 6-4 decision over Winnipeg Monarchs in the western junior final opener on Thursday night makes Edmonton Canadians look just that much better—and more so because the Canucks were without their most prolific points collector for over half of last night's game.

It will be unfortunate if the Saskatchewan champions are forced to go into the next in the series without the services of Clarence Marquess, the top sniper in the semi-finals with the Edmonton juniors.

Marquess scored seven out of the total of 23 goals Moose Jaw made in the four games against Canadians and he set up four others to figure in half of his team's goals. The flashy right-winger was in on one pair the Canucks had registered when he was injured.

THEY BACK THEIR TEAM

MOOSE JAW has a well-balanced junior club and the citizens of that city back their team—and here's hoping they go right through. Last night's crowd again was estimated at 4,000 and unless there has been a sudden change since the Alberta-Saskatchewan series, it can be assumed around 3,990 would be whooping it for home boys.

Hockey fans in that city will freely admit they don't always see eye-to-eye with each other, or with the club's coach and may beef at some of the Canucks' officials, but when the enemy arrives at the rink, all local differences seem to melt away just like the area's meagre snowfall did this spring—a situation quite different to that which holds in hockey and perhaps to a lesser extent in other sports in Edmonton.

The recent Abbott cup series here was not the first time Edmonton's home club failed to secure the support it deserved when the chips were down. Petty jealousies and purely selfish reasons explain this in part. And then there is the type which always hates to see a neighbor accomplish things and get along in the world.

Betting, too, evidently reached a new high in that series and of course most of the self-appointed prophets who offered those fancy odds off hearsay appraisal would be worried about their two bits when it came to a showdown, and naturally would throw their moral support to the outside team, though probably deny it afterward.

Canadians should have been better supported in the games here—they merited it. In the end they were ousted by an older and smooth-working club, but they never quit, and they'll all be pulling for the Canucks to continue along the unbeaten trail.

Moose Jaw Stops Winnipeg Monarchs 6-4

12 Straight For Canucks In Playoffs

MOOSE JAW, March 30.—(CP)—Moose Jaw Canucks, Saskatchewan junior hockey champions, posted their 12th straight play-off victory Thursday night by defeating Winnipeg Monarchs 6-4 in the first game of the best of seven western Canada finals. Second game will be played here Saturday night.

Playing before 4,000 fans, big defenceman Ralph Nattrass punched home the victory goal midway in the final period on a brilliant solo rush. It was his second counter of the game.

Four minutes later Gerry Couture cinched the verdict on another lone play. Other Canuck scorers were Frank Ashworth, Doug Toole and Metro Prystai.

Clint Albright with two, Walter Hergesheimer and George Robertson netted for the Manitoba champions.

The victory, however, may prove costly to the Canucks as their ace right winger, Clarence Marquess was sent to the dressing room with a leg injury late in the middle period after being tripped by forward Hy Beatty. The Canuck's ace left winger, Dick Butler, formerly of Trail, has been on the sidelines for more than a week with a foot injury.

Canucks, favored in the play when Monarchs took eight minor penalties to their four, came from behind to make the count 1-1 at the end of the first period. They led 3-2 at the end of the second.

FIRST PERIOD

After holding off Canucks while team-mate Al Buchanan was off serving the game's first penalty in the opening period, the Monarchs took the lead on Clint Albright's 30-foot goal at 3:17 that trickled through an entanglement of legs into the net.

Canucks waited until 28 seconds before the period ended to score the equalizer, Frank Ashworth getting it. He slapped a loose puck behind Ted Chitty after the Winnipeg goalie had made a beautiful stop from Clarence Marquess.

SECOND PERIOD

The second period was only two minutes and 17 seconds old when Ralph Nattrass, big Moose Jaw defenceman sent his team ahead 3-1 on a play with Bert Olmstead.

After having a goal by Lou Hauck called back, Canucks widened their margin 3-1 when Doug Toole, a military replacement, shot the puck into an open net while Hy Beatty was serving his second penalty of the period for tripping Marquess and sending the high scoring Moose Jaw right winger to the dressing room suffering from a leg injury.

Beatty was still in the penalty box 15 seconds later when Walt Hergesheimer caught four Moose Jaw players up the ice and streaked from his own blueline to register the final goal of the period and reduce Canucks lead to 3-2.

THIRD PERIOD

Penalties paved the way for the first two goals of the third period, Metro Prystai backhanding the first one at 4:31 for Moose Jaw with Albright in the cooler. George Robertson got the next for Monarchs on a play with Hergesheimer at 9:09 just as Olmstead completed a tripping penalty.

Nattrass had bagged his second goal for Canucks at 11:22 on a brilliant solo dash before the teams traded two fast counters, Gerry Couture, a military replacement from Saskatoon playing his first game with Canucks made the score 6-3 and 18 seconds later Albright got it back for Monarchs, converting Hank Kummerfield's pass.

Canadiens Swamp Toronto 10-3

SPORTS BULLETIN

GIRLS—"Just ONCE again! I KNOW I'll get it right! The monkey wrench for hammering the bolts and the hammer for tightening them!"

MONTREAL, March 30.—(CP)—Fighting on the edge of elimination, Montreal Canadiens hit their top form here Thursday night to ride to a 10-3 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs and force at least one more game in their eight point semi-final series.

The Leafs still lead the series six points to four, but if Canadiens can display last night's form in the Saturday night game at Toronto they will tie things up and make a deciding game necessary back here next Tuesday.

The Leafs got two quick goals from the sticks of Lorne Carr and Ted Kennedy in the first period. They got another in the second when Elwin Morris pushed in his first goal of the National Hockey League season. The rest of the time the Canucks were rolling in the mid-season form for which the Montreal fans had looked in vain up to this point in the series.

Maurice Richard led the assault with four goals, all of them clean cut affairs. Elmer Lach got another as the big line that had been practically throttled in the first four games broke loose in the form that brought a goal record to Richard and an assist record to Lach in the regular season.

Wings Go Ahead of Bruins

Bruneteau's Overtime Goal Gives Detroit 3-2 Triumph

DETROIT, March 30.—(CP)—Modere (Mud) Bruneteau's 15-foot drive from left wing after 17 minutes 12 seconds of overtime play gave Detroit Red Wings a 3-2 victory over Boston Bruins before 12,512 fans here last night and sent the Wings into a 3-2 lead in games in the first-round of the National Hockey League playoffs.

Detroit now needs only a victory in Sunday's game at Boston to enter the Stanley Cup finals.

Bruneteau, who as a Detroit rookie scored the only goal in one of hockey's longest overtime games, came back as a veteran last night to break up a determined Boston attempt to upset the Red Wings. His accurate low shot climaxed a neat play in which Joe Carveth carried the puck in on right wing and passed to Bill Howlett at centre, who fed it perfectly to the waiting Bruneteau.

Twice last night Bruins came from behind to tie Red Wings, who now have scored three straight victories after dropping the first two playoff games.

Bruneteau scored two of the Detroit goals, flipping the first one over Boston goalie Paul Bibeault less than three minutes after the game started.

Winnipeg Cagers Win 20-19 Over Ramblers at Saskatoon

SASKATOON, March 30.—(CP)—Winnipeg Winnipegs defeated Saskatoon Ramblers 20-19 here last night to take the first of a best-of-three western Canada senior women's basketball play-off series. Second game will be here Friday night and the third Saturday night.

Winner of the series will meet Edmonton Army and Navy Pats for the right to advance against Vancouver Hedlunds in the Western finals.

Members of both clubs were off in their shooting and the large and slightly slippery floor at the Saskatoon stadium had a lot to do with the low scoring.

Winnipegs had more finish than Ramblers and led at the half way mark 10-3. The Saskatchewan champions, however, outscored the 'Pegs in the third quarter to draw within a point of the Manitoba representatives. It was basket for basket in the final 10 minutes, each team getting eight points.

Bea Tyler was top scorer, netting 10 points for Ramblers, while Sylvia Ferris scored eight for the Winnipegs.

Ramblers had 45 shots on the basket against 30 for the opponents.

LINEUPS:

Second encounter will be played Saturday at Westglen starting 8 o'clock.

Jumping into the lead seconds after the first toss-up, Westglen played steady ball throughout to remain out in front all the way, despite determined rallies by the visiting quintet.

The officials had a busy evening, calling a total of 32 fouls on the two teams. Ken McLeod of Westglen and Nilsson of Wrentham left the game in the fourth quarter, each having five fouls.

Highest scorer of the game was Westglen's Eric McConachie who hooped 14 points, most of them in the shadow of the bucket.

Lineups:

Westglen: Bodnar, Savage, Wood, Greenwood, McDermott, McLeod, McConachie, Ragan.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, March 30.—(BUP)—Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' Association, Thursday branded as "base canards" the rumors that a relief expedition might be sent into Dixie to rescue those members of the touring golf caravan who reportedly are suffering from the Byron Nelson-Sam Snead "monopoly".

The relief rumors doubtless had their origin in the fact that Nelson and Snead have each won six tourneys on the so-called "Golden Trail". Together they have won 13 of the 16 tournaments staged since the tour opened Nov. 23 at Portland, Ore. Approximately 20 professionals have made the winter swing, with individual expenses running about $150 a week. Hence the rumor that most of these linksmen were "starving".

Willie Goggin and his associates may have unwittingly given birth to the rumor last week at the Charlotte, N.C., tourney. Willie and player pals circulated a petition requesting that the PGA reduce the amount of prize money given for the first five places in a tourney, and increase the amounts given to those who finish from 10th to 20th. This would help the field to keep eating. Ed Dudley president of the PGA has taken the petition under advisement; but nothing is expected to come of it. At least it will not affect the two tourneys remaining on the tour—At Durham, N.C., opening Friday; and at Atlanta, Ga., April 5 to 8. Incidentally, Bobby Jones may compete at Atlanta.

MOST HAVE BROKEN EVEN

WE telephoned yesterday to tournament manager Corcoran at Durham and asked him about the relief expedition. Corcoran's reaction was explosive. He snorted "Nerts: those rumors are base canards. This tour is just about the same, from the financial angle, as any other. Some guys win the money, and some don't. Most of the players have at least broken even. And always remember this — no player makes the tour who can't afford it."

How can a player afford it, if he wins few prizes and his expenses keep running at $150 a week?

"It's like this," Corcoran explained. "Practically every player who attempts a winter tour is a top-flight golfer. He is connected with a good club. His salary continues while he is touring. Any victories enhance his personal prestige and that of his club. Meanwhile the competition keeps his game sharp—keeps him valuable to the club. During the year, each player puts away a certain sum each month to be used as his tour fund. He figures he can afford to lose this sum, if he wins nothing on tour, otherwise he doesn't start."

COURSES NEED THE RELIEF

THUS far the winter tournaments have given $150,000 in war bonds as prize money. Approximately $45,000 of this has gone to Nelson, Snead, McSpaden and Sammy Byrd. Byrd won the Texas open; and McSpaden was Nelson's partner in the winning of Miami four ball tourney. In addition, Sgt. Jim Ferrier of San Francisco won the Oakland open; and Los Angeles won the Tucson, Ariz. open.

Despite the 12 Nelson-Snead victories, Corcoran emphasized that the average player on the current tour had more chance of cutting in on some prize money than in normal times when about five made the swing, instead of the current 20. And in normal times, there would be more "local" pros from each tournament section competing against the touring pros.

Corcoran concluded, "the only relief needed on this tour might have been for the golf courses that have been blistered by the hottest play in the game's history. Winners have averaged about 68 per round. The calibre of play may have let down in other wartime sports—but not in competitive golf.

Will Be Improved at First

Coleman Thinks His Braves Have Chance for Top Half

WASHINGTON, March 30—(AP)—Bob Coleman thinks his Boston Braves have a chance for the first division in the National League on added speed and defensive ability to back up a small but efficient pitching staff.

"I never did know who was going to play first, second or third at this time a year ago," said Bob. "No matter whether it's Joe Mack from Columbus or Vince Shupe from Hartford, a .346 slugger, we're sure to be improved at first. Frank Drews showed me he could play second base and Dick Culler at short and Tommy Nelson at third should give us more class. Culler, who hit .308 for Milwaukee, was late reporting but I still have Whitey Wietelmann."

Nelson's arm has kept him out of the spring games but the doctors indicate the rookie, up from Milwaukee with a .303 mark, will be ready.

Bill Ramsey, the Pacific Coast League stolen base champ, probably will play centrefield supplanting Tommy Holmes who will move around to left, leaving right to Butch Nieman and Charley Workman, both unreported. Carden Gillenwater, another speedboy purchased from Brooklyn, is Ramsey's competition for the centrefield job and Stan Wentzel from Hartford and Ab Wright, a Boston holdover, are other candidates.

Coleman is trying to make a starting lefthander out of either Charley Cozart, an 18-game winner at Atlanta, or Jim Wallace, an army dischargee. Johnny Hutchings, 265-pound righthander, is in the running for a fifth regular mound job behind Jim Tobin, Charles Barrett, Al Javery and Nate Andrews.

Ben Cardoni and Ira Hutchinson, who is working in a war plant, figure to handle the relief chores.

Red Deer's Five-Year Veterans, Back from Overseas, Visit Homes

RED DEER—A number of Red Deer men have returned from overseas service with the Canadian Army in the last week and are spending leave at their homes here. Some of them have seen five years' service overseas.

BSM Duncan Wells, Royal Canadian Artillery, on a 30-day leave, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wells, Red Deer. He joined the 92nd Battery, RCA, when war broke out, and went overseas with that unit in December, 1939. He served in England and took part in the Sicily and Italy campaigns.

Gnr. Frank Hanson, of Red Deer, is another "original" of the 92nd Battery. He went overseas with the battery in 1939, and later was transferred to another unit. He was married in the Old Country, and his wife and family have been making their home here.

Pte. Melvin Streatch, RCASC, is one of Red Deer's five-year veterans. He went overseas in 1939 with the Army Service Corps from Calgary and has been serving with that unit in England. His wife lives in Calgary and his son is a member of an Edmonton dance orchestra. Pte. Streatch's mother, Mrs. C. J. Streatch, and a sister, Mrs. I. Galvin, live at Red Deer.

Bdr. Harold Spicer has crossed the ocean four times during his service in the Army. Last summer he was home for a 30-day leave with his wife and family in Red Deer. Later he served for some time as an instructor in Canada and then went overseas for the second time. He is back in Canada again and after a few days here reports to Calgary.

Another Red Deer boy, Sgt. Alex Meeres, is here visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heath. He will leave later in the week to visit his mother, Mrs. Thos. Meeres, at Armstrong, B.C. Sgt Meeres joined the 78th Battery, RCA, at Red Deer when the unit was mobilized in 1940. Recently he has been on the instructional staff at an officers' training school in the Old Country. He came back to Canada on a hospital ship, injured in an accident overseas.

Sgt. K. M. Brosh, RCEME, formerly of this city, passed through Red Deer on his way to Bentley where his wife now lives. He saw action in France and Belgium and went overseas in August, 1943.

AT RED DEER.—Bombardier Harold E. Spicer, veteran of overseas service with the Canadian Army, who has arrived home to spend a 30 days' leave with his wife and baby daughter. He is a former motor car salesman.

Gnr. Wagar Returns From Battle Areas

WETASKIWIN—Gnr. C. R. Wagar, son of Mrs. N. Wagar, returned home this week on leave. Enlisting three years ago, he received his training at Camrose and Camp Shilo, Man., going overseas in 1943. After two months in France he was returned to England due to ill-health. His wife, whom he married in England, will come to Wetaskiwin shortly.

Pte. Robert Watson has returned from overseas where he took part in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns. In the latter he received serious wounds, causing him to remain seven months in hospital.

Report Attempts Made on Lives Of Nazi Leaders

LONDON, March 30—(CP)—The Luxembourg radio reported last night that attempts had been made on the lives of S.S. Leader Dr. Ernst Kaltenbrunner, No. 2 Nazi under Himmler, and Baldur Von Schirach, former Hitler youth chief and Nazi leader in Vienna.

The attacks, the broadcast said, quoting "reliable Swiss sources," were made in anti-Nazi clashes in Munich, where Kaltenbrunner reportedly was seriously injured and in Vienna where Von Schirach escaped unhurt as two of his companions were killed.

Kaltenbrunner, named commander of German troops on the approaches to Berlin, succeeded assassinated Reinhard Heydrich as Nazi "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia.

Canuck Paratroops In British Sweep

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE CANADIANS EAST OF THE RHINE, March 30.—(CP)—The 1st Canadian Paratroop Battalion is sharing in the great sweep of the British 2nd Army eastward into Germany. Nobody knew exactly where they were last night.

Security on movement was partly responsible but these paratroops are phantom forces of the advance and they simply are ghosting ahead with British airborne forces with whom they were dropped last Saturday morning.

Ask any harried staff officer and 2nd Army headquarters where the airborne forces are and he'll reply in exasperation: "Airborne, airborne, oh somewhere out here," and wave his hand over western Germany.

Seek Farm Labor By Every Method

OTTAWA, March 30. — (CP) — Labor Minister Mitchell said yesterday in the Commons that no stone would be left unturned in efforts to provide farm workers this year.

Farm workers now away on temporary permits must return to the farm by April 1, or by the date set by their respective provinces.

Selective Service officials now how the power to direct any male between 16 and 65 to farm work. Workers from less productive farms might be moved to more productive farms.

Workers would be moved between provinces and within provinces to help with crops. Harvesters and equipment would move across the Canadian boundary from the United States.

Workers might be recruited in Newfoundland to work on farms in the Maritimes.

A check would be made of farm workers on military postponements to see if they were doing their full share.

There would be an expansion in the use of prisoners of war in agriculture.

Because of the heavy requirements of armed forces overseas, not as much help as in other years could be expected from men in uniform.

Vets' Association Ready to Assist Returning Troops

VANCOUVER, March 30.—(CP)—Capt. Louis G. Howard, of Selkirk, Man., dominion president of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, says his association's main considerations at the present time are the problems affecting the rehabilitation of veterans of this war.

He made the statement before departing for Winnipeg where he will confer with Manitoba command officials in connection with the forthcoming celebration there in honor of Riel Rebellion veterans.

Capt. Howard has just completed a tour of Army and Navy Veterans' units in the three western provinces. He said the association "is highly organized and ready to assist in all ways in the rehabilitation of veterans of this war."

House Session Is Adjourned Until April 3rd

OTTAWA, March 30.—(CP)—Parliament adjourned until April 3 after Royal assent was given to a bill authorizing the expenditure of $5,654,976 marked as supplementary estimates for the fiscal year ending Saturday.

Royal assent came after the Commons completed passage of the estimates, dealing with topics concerning almost every government department and including income tax payments by farmers.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King led off Commons proceedings with a statement on the closing of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan and other party leaders joining him in paying tribute to the work that had been accomplished under the scheme.

TAX QUESTION

When study of the estimates got underway, E. E. Perley PC-Qu'Appelle) brought up the question of income tax payments by farmers.

Mr. Perley suggested income tax inspectors concentrated or worked harder on collection of income taxes from farms in some districts than in others.

Acting Revenue Minister MacKinnon said he was convinced that exactly the same basis of collection was in effect in all provinces and in all districts and there had been no concentration of officials or efforts in any area.

Mr. Perley said that on the basis of published reports, 42 per cent of all income taxes paid by farmers were paid by Saskatchewan farmers. He wondered if an estimate of $775,000 for payment of extra temporary help in district income tax offices covered payment of inspectors for farmers' income and how many were employed in each province.

5,606 EMPLOYEES

Mr. MacKinnon said the estimate covered temporary help across Canada in which there had been a great increase. When the year's estimates were made up there were 3,961 employees in district offices and there now were 5,606 employees.

Harry Leader (Lib.-Prog.-Portage La Prairie) said if the farmers of Saskatchewan and wheat growers in Manitoba would diversify their operations they would have some expenses to put against their large cash incomes from wheat.

J. A. Ross (PC-Souris) said farmers were lowering production because of income tax. He said a farmer whose wife and family worked long hours was in the same position as a laborer who worked overtime.

OVERTIME WORK

"Labor pays income tax in overtime and generally does not refuse to work overtime on that account," interjected Finance Minister Ilsley.

Mr. Leader suggested farmers' wives be allowed the same exemptions as allowed to other wives on wages for work on their own farms.

Mr. Ilsley said an exception was made two years ago to encourage wives to work in factories and they were given exemption as single persons without altering the husband's exemption as a married person.

It was only made where the wife was actually paid in cash and her income was known. It could not be done for the wife of a farmer, a merchant or a professional man who assisted her husband and whose income was not known, without a general increase in exemptions.

"I think the record of the Canadian people under these heavy taxes has been very good," he said. "I look forward to the time when the income tax can be reduced. I think that is what we should try to bring about rather than put farmers in a preferred position.

Final Ceremonies

Doom Hangs Over Reich As Air Training Ended

OTTAWA, March 30.—(CP)—Air Minister Gibson, speaking at a unique ceremony marking the end of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, said yesterday that the "great force" with which Allied airmen are striking at the Germans has brought the "complete destruction" of the enemy in Europe "imminently before us."

He warned, however, that the realization of the vision through which the training plan was born late in 1939 will come only with "complete and final victory" over Japan as well as Germany.

Col. Gibson was speaking at the wings parade of the last 50 graduates of the big plan. The last of a stream of 150,000 graduates, they received their wings at nearby Uplands air station yesterday afternoon in ceremonies attended by the governor-general, representatives of the cabinet, the armed forces and the diplomatic corps.

MARRED BY MISHAP

The ceremonies were marred by the fact that a number of high-ranking British air officials scheduled to have taken part were reported Wednesday to be missing after their plane, the famed Liberator "Commando," crashed en route to Canada.

Col. Gibson reviewed the start of the plan and its development, and said the "real measure" of its success was in the accomplishments of its graduates in the face of the enemy.

In another address Air Marshal Robert Leckie, chief of air staff, said that while it had been said that the battle of Waterloo had been won on the playing fields of Eton, it could be said with equal force and greater truth that the German air force had met its Waterloo in the training fields of North America.

He expressed his thanks and those of the RCAF to the three other partners in the plan—Britain, Australia and New Zealand—and all others who had taken part in its development.

Briefs From Parliament

OTTAWA, March 30.—(CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell said yesterday in the Commons, in reply to a question by Tom Reid (L, New Westminster) that no representations have been received from any province by the Japanese security commission or the government regarding the re-allocation of Japanese in Canada after the war.

A total of 303,738 acres of land has been purchased by the government for veteran land settlement in small holdings and permanent farm units, it was disclosed yesterday in reply to a question by P. E. Wright (CCF, Melfort).

By provinces the purchases are: British Columbia 19,974; Alberta 93,034; Saskatchewan 71,510; Manitoba 71,177; Ontario 17,591; Quebec 2,824 and Maritimes 27,628.

Construction of the Redcliff-Ronclane irrigation project in Alberta will be started this year if conditions permit, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in reply to F. W. Gershaw (L, Medicine Hat).

The St. Mary river development is regarded as a post-war project and steps to arrive at a formal agreement with Alberta will be taken when construction is possible.

The Canadian Wheat Board paid country elevator companies $63,214,452 and terminal elevator companies $32,988,228 for storage of grain in the crop years from 1935-36 to 1943-44, Trade Minister MacKinnon said in reply to a question by E. E. Perley (PC, Qu'Appelle).

Rehabilitation Is Major Problem Army, Navy Vets

Rehabilitation of the new war veterans is the main problem confronting the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, according to Louis G. Howard, Selkirk, Man., Dominion president, who arrived here Friday to confer with officials of the city branch.

"Re-establishment of veterans will meet with little difficulty if we apply the same energy and vital interest to this problem which we applied to prosecuting the war effort," he said.

AGAINST SOFT PEACE

A warning against a soft peace for Hitler, Himmler, Hirohito and other war criminals and guilty nations was issued. He stressed the necessity for "eternal vigilence lest we again become soft-hearted and let the sob-sisters and intellectuals put over the 'poor German' stories they did after the First Great War. We feel this attitude is necessary if we are to keep faith with our uniformed men."

He felt it was the duty of the people of Canada as a whole, as relatives of veterans, to thwart any rise of sentimentality over the defeated enemy.

It was pointed out by Mr. Howard that the Army and Navy Vets is the oldest veterans' organization in Canada. It was founded in Canada in 1840 by veterans of the War of 1812 and the Napoleonic wars. He said that officers and members realize its rights and privileges belong to the young veterans and are only too glad to see they take their rightful places in the economic life of the country.

Churches Crowded for Services In Observance of Good Friday

Churches of all denominations were crowded on Friday as special services were held in observance of Good Friday. Early services were largely attended, and with an even greater number to be held throughout the afternoon and evening there were indications that the congregations would fill the churches to the limit.

Some of the services followed the regular pattern of their churches with hymns, psalms and sermons. Others were mostly choral, with the choirs presenting favorite sacred cantatas and excerpts from the literature of sacred choral and instrumental music.

POPULAR CANTATAS

Sir John Stainer's "Crucifixion", J. H. Maunder's "Olivet to Calvary", and Harold Moore's "The Darkest Hour" always have been favorite cantatas for singing at this season and the first two appeared to be specially popular this year, being scheduled in several city churches.

The city as a whole observed a respite from daily routine. Schools closed on Thursday, to re-open again April 9. Dominion, provincial and municipal offices, including all courts, were closed. Provincial government offices will remain closed until Tuesday morning.

Banks were closed, but will re-open Saturday.

Hot cross buns, a traditional feature of the day were conspicuous by their absence, while chocolate likenesses of bunnies, chickens and other features of this season were scarce to say the least.

The weather outlook was for a generally fair day.

There was evidence that golf courses drew some players getting a little light practice, and some residents were seen in their gardens and conducting a little salvage work in picking up paper and rubbish that had collected in the yard during the winter.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

Hitler is supposed to have a super-secret weapon to be used to destroy civilization and prevent Germany's defeat, according to a Dutch underground report. Do you think the Nazis have such a weapon?

THE ANSWERS

B. WOODS, cook: I think Hitler's threats are just pure bunkum. If he has such a weapon why hasn't he used it in a small area just to prove that he can do what he threatens to the civilized world?

* * *

G. GREEN, airman: Hitler has only one weapon left that is effective in this war. That's the Gestapo. Even the Gestapo will fold up soon.

E. AGAR, sign writer: Hitler may really have some terror weapon left to unloose during the closing days of the war, but it won't save Hitler or Germany from defeat.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Devoted Stepmothers Few and Far Between

Children Make Dad's Second Wife Happy; She Wills Them Property and is Devoted to Them In Thousand Ways

DEAR MISS DIX: As I have no children of my own, I have willed all of my property to my stepdaughters whom I adore. My sisters are furious about it and refuse to speak to me because they think they should inherit my property. I love my stepchildren as much as any mother could love a child of her own and without them life would not be worth while for me.

Don't you think I have a right to leave my property to those who have made me happy during my lifetime?

A DEVOTED STEPMOTHER.

ANSWER: Your money is your own. Your sisters had no part in making it and so you are not defrauding them of anything to which they have a legal right when you leave it to those whose claim upon you is one of effection. But I advise you to get a good lawyer to make your will and urge him to make it bomb-proof, because it is almost a certainty that your family will try to break it.

It is a heartening thing, though, to get a letter like yours and hear of a stepmother who has been a real mother to her husband's children, and of children who have appreciatd the affection and work and sacrifice that their stepmother has given them. When such a thing happens, it makes a beautiful relationship and brings about so much happiness that it is a pity that it is the exception instead of the rule.

Perhaps, human nature will have to be made over before the majority of second wives can keep from being jealous of the first wife and her children, or before the children can keep from being suspicious of a stepmother and resenting her control over them.

But there are women like you who are big enough to meet the situation with patience and wisdom and love, and who have enough mother love to make the children forget that they are motherless, and great is the work that they do. It is more than anything that money can pay for, but if the stepmother wants to leave them, when she dies, something that will carry her ability to help them beyond the grave, surely she has a right to do it.

HAPPY HOME

DEAR MISS DIX: Tributes are always being paid to the wives and mothers who spend their lives in making happy homes for their husbands and children. Don't you think that the husbands who never have to be told twice about the faucet that leaks, or the door that sticks, or to bring home the bacon, and who always remembers birthdays and anniversaries and bring their wives gardenias, need a little recognition of their part in building up a happy home?

C. B. E.

ANSWER: They certainly do. They are among the saints and the martyrs who will never get their just reward until they get to heaven. And maybe it is because they get so little appreciation in this world that they are so rare. For hens' teeth are not scarcer than men who ever fix a faucet until they are nagged into doing it, or who ever oil a creaking door of their own accord, or who can remember to bring home a loaf of bread. And there are millions of wives who would drop dead with heart failure of their husbands would remember their birthdays and bring them the thing they had been hinting for weeks.

But even Fido fetches and carries better if he gets a pat on the head now and then, so undoubtedly husbands would be much more domestic if their wives would show more appreciation of what they really do for them.

GEOGRAPHY

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Can you tell me how far from England Italy is; how far from England Germany is, and how far from England Russia is?

J. A. S.

ANSWER: Get a geography and study it out for yourself. You will find it an interesting way to spend an evening.

Minute Make-Ups

Grubby, dry, broken-nailed hands are not necessary in these days of modern hand care. Protect your hands before gardening. Rub a little extra cream into knuckles and work it well into the cuticle around the nails. The rich emollient cream helps to keep the skin soft. Pack a little of the cream under the nails for protection.

Debunker

The common idea is that country people are rather dull and seldom have any flashes of wit. Prof. Povargue of Cambridge University made a study of this matter and concluded that rural people in general have much more wit and first-class humor than do city people. He says we have judged them by their clothes and rural manners which difference is passing rapidly—and that most city people never have the opportunity to know the richness and depth of humor current among rural groups. It is likely that their proximity to nature is more productive of normal wit than is the factory humdrum of city life. Some of the best laughs every invented came from the country originally.

THESE WOMEN—"Hello, dear—I almost didn't make it!"

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The more I delve in current medical literature the less ashamed do I feel about that apple green brochure "The Ills Called Rheumatism," No. 12 Little Lesson in the Ways of Health, for which, in a reckless moment, you may have sent or may one day send me ten cents, in clean negotiable condition and a stamped envelope bearing your address.

When you get right down to cases we know little if any more about the nature and treatment of chronic joint disabilities today than we knew forty or fifty years ago.

Please note I say chronic disabilities—joint troubles of gradual or insidious development slow, progressive course, and unlike acute inflammatory rheumatism (acute infectious arthritis, rheumatic fever) nearly always characterized by degenerative changes in the joint or joints affected and hence more or less crippling.

In most cases of rheumatic fever the illness is a sequel of an upper respiratory infection (tonsillitis, sinusitus, rhinitis, sore throat) caused by Streptococcus Hemolyticus—a strain of the notorious Streptococcus type of germ that rapidly destroys blood corpuscles. Streptococcus hemo. seems to have an affinity for not only mucous membranes such as the lining of the respiratory tract but also for serous membranes such as the linings of joints and the lining of the heart and covering of the heart valves.

Epidemics of rheumatic fever (inflammatory rheumatism, acute infectious arthritis) in families, in houses, in barracks, in schools, in even in communities, have been reported by many physicians. However, it seems fairly evident that rheumatic fever spreads from one child to another precisely as any and every respiratory infection does. If Mrs. Sumsey and her favorite quack doctors and nineteenth century health authorities will stop beating their gums for a moment, I'll suggest here that children must continue to suffer the grave consequences of rheumatic fever just as long as Mrs. Sumsey the yammering nineteenth century authorities and you, stupid, persist in attributing cri to "exposure" to cold, dampness, sudden changes. No one who harbors that notion is likely to give any concern to the protection of children from droplet, spray or conversational infection.

I say—and let any medical authority who will, take exception—that if the rank and file of physicians today devoted themselves as earnestly to the prevention of respiratory infection in school, at home, wherever children meet or gather, as they give to removing tonsils and adenoids, a good many children could be saved from being attacked by rheumatic fever.

McKenney On Bridge

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

I had the pleasure the other night of being the guest of the 12th Regiment, New York State Guard. After the review and drill I played bridge with some of the boys. Lt. Harry Jacobs was not afraid to bid today's hand but his play warranted his optimism.

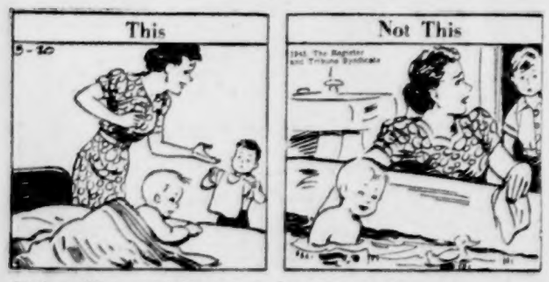
He ruffed the third diamond with the five of spades and even though West had bid hearts, he did not make the mistake of leading the four of hearts.

If he had, West would have won and returned another diamond and now he could not make the contract. So instead, Lieutenant Jacobs led toward the king of clubs, came back to his hand with the ace of clubs, and now led the third club. He decided that if West showed up with the queen of clubs, he would then ruff high in dummy and hope for a three-two break in spades.

But when West showed out, he trumped low, picked up the trump and, of course, his club suit was established.

Points for Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE



Mother: "I'm certainly glad I have a son big enough to help me with the baby. After she's asleep, you can help me make cookies if you want to."

Mother: "Go away and quit teasing me to play with you. Can't you see I'm busy with the baby? You're old enough to play alone now."

It depends largely upon parents whether children welcome growing-up or cling to babyhood.

CURIOUS WORLD

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The question of fear is no academic one these days. It is a stark reality all around us. Children feel the tension of adults, the shocked whispering of casualties and losses. The blunt remarks of radio commentators with all their menacing implications. Fear isn't just a word to a child, it is a personal and harrowing emotion and one which, because of his age, he is helpless to alter. He has to learn to live with it.

When there is this real cause for fear, causes which we cannot change, we have to be even more conscious of the unnecessary fears which we are to spare the child so that his burdens will not be overwhelming.

Threats are a careless mother's weapon of control. She utters them without thought. "Take your finger out of your mouth or I'll cut it off." "If you ever act like that again I'll go away and you'll never see me again."

How cruel, how senseless and how degrading. We love our children despite their mistakes. We try to correct them but our love is a back-log which never collapses. Children must be told this. They don't know it. Too many parents express their pride and love when the child cannot hear them and to his face make an issue of all his short-comings. Yet, the parent's love and faith are the foundations of a child's courage to face all the disasters of daily living.

When a small child plays with older children, nameless fears may manifest themselves. Children are heartless in their treatment of smaller children. The older ones like to feel important and all-knowing and thus impress the younger child. The tales they tell may be unrelated to the truth. The taunts they make may be absurd. "You better be careful those warts will grow into more fingers." The gullible child swallows it whole and he is sure this dire possibility is real.

Sex habits which may manifest themselves at different times through the growing years cause parents so much shame and humiliation that they lose their judgment and say anything to try to scare the child into abandoning them. If the child doesn't, he is guilt-stricken and terrified, if he does, he has acquired an unwholesome attitude toward sex which will plague him all his life.

There is more to immunizing the child against fear than just to tell him he need not be afraid. Children are the victims of our words, our attitudes, our warnings and threats and lack of judgment. We must weigh what we say and what we do and determine, before they are irrevocable, what influence they will have on the helpless gullible, impressionable child.

Doubt If Air War Will Ever Exceed Fury During March

LONDON, March 30.—(AP)—With their target area shrinking so rapidly it appeared doubtful last night that the aerial war ever again would reach this month's prodigious scale.

Not only have all tonnage records been shattered in March but in preparing the way for the ground forces to cross the Rhine airmen have achieved new heights in tactical support by isolating a huge slice of western Germany from the rest of the country.

With only two days to go it is estimated that approximately 165,000 tons of bombs were showered on Germany this month. This is exclusive of the explosives dropped by the Italy-based United States 15th air force.

Bill Is Passed For Cancellation Sask. Seed Debts

REGINA, March 30.—(CP)—The Saskatchewan Legislature yesterday in committee of the whole approved a bill for the cancellation of seed grain and relief debts totalling an estimated $8,793,000 which had been guaranteed or paid by the provincial government to municipalities and through the municipalities to farmers and others.

Liberal opposition members said in debate that the bill left the municipalities "holding the bag" in respect to 1938 seed grain advances to farmers.

By authorizing municipalities to settle the 1938 debts for 50 per cent of the principal, some $7,750,000 in debts is being cancelled by the province. But the opposition members said that while the provincial government action would cut value of the muincipalities' security by 50 per cent, the Dominion government might seek to collect 100 per cent from the municipalities.

Airman to Face Charge in Death

YARMOUTH, N.S., March 30.—(CP)—A charge of manslaughter has been laid against Flt. Lt. J. D. Mill as a result of the death of FO. Henry Kenneth Billingsley of Vancouver at the RCAF officers mess here a few weeks ago. Verdict returned at the inquest said that Billingsley died from injuries received when he fell against a wall after he was struck by Mill during an argument at a Saturday night party.

War Gratuities May Be Given Veterans' Kin

OTTAWA, March 30.—(CP)—Veterans Minister Mackenzie said yesterday in the Commons that he hoped that when the next parliament was elected a committee would be appointed to review and help consolidate all the legislation that has been passed during the last five years for the benefit of members and former members of the armed services.

He hoped that on the committee would be veterans of this war, to lend their voices in suggesting improvements.

In reply to J. G. Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), he said active consideration now was being given to the possibility of making war service gratuities part of a soldier's estate.

SEES NO REASON

Mr. Diefenbaker said the men who lost their lives overseas would have been entitled to the gratuities if they had returned home. Because of this he did not see why the relatives of the victim could not collect the gratuities.

Consideration also was being given to the possibility of paying gratuities to the dependents of Canadians who fought the Battle of Britain in the RAF.

In reply to a question of Robert Fair (SC-Battle River), Mr. Mackenzie said the government had decided against granting clear titles to soldiers who bought land under provisions of the Veterans' Land Act. However, the interest on the amount owed by the soldier settlers had been reduced from five to 3½ per cent.

Girl Defies Court: Accused Goes Free

CALGARY, March 30—(CP)—Violet Mitchell, pretty 20-year-old brunette, was on her way back to Fort Saskatchewan jail yesterday after having defied the supreme court of Alberta.

Fred Schumaker, Calgary, against whom the girl refused to testify was given his freedom on a charge of living on the avails of prostitution.

Miss Mitchell, for the second day in succession, yesterday morning refused to take the oath and enter the witness stand and answer questions by C. S. Blanchard, KC, agent of the attorney-general and crown prosecutor.

She is serving a term of one year's imprisonment for contempt of court arising from her refusal to testify against Schumaker in supreme court here last October and a two year's term for perjury in connection with the Schumaker case. The sentences are concurrent.

Rights of Voting Asked For Indians

WINNIPEG, March 30.—(CP)—Attorney-General J. O. McLenaghen told the Manitoba legislature yesterday that the Dominion Indian Act provides that Indians could be enfranchised upon application. Speaking to a resolution urging the Dominion to give Indians the right to vote in Dominion, provincial and municipal elections, Mr. McLenaghen said that under the Dominion Act that any Indian given the right to vote lost special privileges, particularly exemption from taxation.

Pair Have Sentence Cut to Six Months

VANCOUVER, March 30—Ralph Tartaglia, 23, and his brother Marco, 20, who said they broke a window to get out of the army, had their seven-year sentence reduced to six months by British Columbia court of appeal yesterday. The boys appealed their sentences after deciding they preferred the army to jail. They had been convicted of breaking a window and stealing a purse.

Miss Doris Orlina Rogness Weds LS. V. Nordin, RCNVR

Baskets of roses, daffodils and iris decorated First Baptist church for the wedding on Thursday at 7 p.m. when Miss Doris Orlina Rogness, daughter of Mrs. Edith Rogness became the bride of LS. Verner F. Nordin, RCNVR, son of Mrs. Sigrid Nordin of Hay Lake, and the late Mr. Nordin. The Rev. Daniel Young performed the ceremony. Mrs. Barbour Smith played the wedding music and Armin Falkenburg sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her uncle D. B. Anderson, the bride wore a gown of white silk taffeta fashioned with a full gathered skirt and a long basque bodice having a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. Tiny buttons trimmed the front of the bodice. Her long veil fell softly from a bandeau of small white flowers and she carried a shower bouquet of American Beauty roses.

BRIDESMAID

Miss Albina Pelz was bridesmaid and wore a mauve shot silk taffeta gown made with a full skirt gathered to a long basque bodice having short puffed sleeves. The gown was trimmed with fuschia velvet bows and her small hat was to tone trimmed with fuschia veiling. She carried a colonial bouquet of pastel shaded spring flowers.

Brother of the bridegroom, Lenart Nordin of Hay Lake, was best man and ushers were LS. Gordon Cockroft, RCNVR, and Tel Robert Russell, RCNVR.

Mrs. Rogness chose for her daughter's wedding a navy two-piece crepe suit, grey hat and grey accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a black ensemble and a corsage of red roses.

RECEPTION

After the ceremony a reception for 30 relatives and close friends was held at the Royal George hotel banquet room, where the bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake and decorated with spring flowers and tall lighted tapers. Oscar Grahn proposed the toast to the bride.

Later the couple left for a honeymoon in the southern part of the province, the bride travelling in a gold and black jersey frock, black hat and accessories and topcoat of beige wool. Upon their return LS. and Mrs. Nordin will make their home in Edmonton temporarily.

NEW STYLE SLANT. — The bright wool wraparound above, a perennial winter-into-spring favorite, is given a new style slant with its asymmetrical neckline to hemline closing. There's plenty of lapover for fashion flattery and walking ease.

CNR Stores Large Quantity of Ice

More than 22,000 tons of ice have been stored by Canadian National Railways for use in refrigerated cars during the coming summer, it was learned Friday from E. R. Legate, CNR bridge and building foreman.

About 17,000 tons are piled in the Calder yards, insulated with tsraw and sawdust against coming warm weather, while 5,000 tons have been stored in ice houses. The ice was cut at Lake Wabamun and shipped by box car to this city.

The 22,000 tons on hand are expected to last the railway through the summer. Last year, when 12,000 tons were stored, supplies ran out in August and 125 cars had to be shipped in from the United States.

Skaters Permitted Use Ice Saturday

Edmonton skaters will have the opportunity of using the artificial ice at the exhibition grounds arena on Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon, according to Charles E. Wilson, managing director of the Edmonton Exhibition Association.

Skating will start on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and on Sunday at 3 p.m. Arrangements have been made for the checking of clothing.

The ice in the Arena will be taken out on Monday to permit the preparations for the annual spring show which opens on Tuesday, April 10.

PRESIDENT.—Lloyd E. Wood, who has been elected president for 1945 of the Tax-Payers' Protective Association of Edmonton. He succeeds Dr. G. J. Hope.

Taxpayers Told Of City Revenue

Detailed report on the improved financial situation of this city, brought about through increased revenues, and refunding of its bonded indebtedness was given this week by John Hodgson, city commissioner, when he addressed the annual meeting of the Taxpayers' Protective Association at the Public Library.

Mr. Hodgson answered a number of questions relative to his topic, put before him by several of those present.

The retiring president, Dr. G. J. Hope, discussed the aims and purposes of the organization. Lloyd E. Wood was elected president for 1945, and most of last year's executive was returned to office. It was decided to hold a meeting soon to discuss the question of rent control.

B'nai B'rith Aid For Servicemen Plan Is Sought

Plans are being formulated by the Western Canadian Council of B'Nai B'rith Lodges to formulate a project to benefit veterans of this and the First Great War, it was announced Friday by John D. Dower, war service chairman of the Western Canadian Council of the organization.

In a mail survey of all lodges in Western Canada there was complete agreement on general participation in any project which may be approved and which will be beneficial to veterans. The thought behind the plan is to do "something worthwhile and beneficial for the veterans; it was stated.

MAY BE HOSPITAL

It had been suggested that a unified hospital service might be established such as the supplying of master radio control units and earphone sets to the military hospitals. In some of the hospitals recently constructed, this service has been installed by the government as standard equipment, and the survey is now being directed to find an alternative.

Mr. Dower will hold a conference with Alex. Walker, Calgary, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, to obtain his views and suggestions on a project for veterans to which the lodges could apply their efforts.

"I believe that all lodges are in agreement that if a worthy project is found in any one city that would merit the funds and efforts of the council, we would not hesitate to spend such funds and efforts in that city. Our main idea is to do something truly worthwhile and beneficial to the veterans, something of which the Western Canadian Council can be proud," Mr. Dower stated.

Rare Operation Restores Sight

One of the most delicate operations which modern surgeons can perform, the replacement of a faulty cornea in a human eye with a normal cornea, returned good vision to an Edmonton girl who returned to the city this week from the New York hospital where the miracle restored her sight.

She is Garneau High School graduate Lillian Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cameron of 9020 114 avenue. She had been unable to work for more than a year because of poor vision. Now she hopes to return to her office work shortly.

The operation was performed by Dr. Ramon Castraviejo, recognized as one of the greatest surgeons at the Columbia Presbyterial Medical Centre. Her period to hospital lasted a little more than two weeks. She was accompanied to New York by a family friend, Nurse Phyllis Driver.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

A meeting of the executive of the Northern Alberta branch of the Navy League of Canada will be held in the Royal Bank Chambers on Tuesday, April 3, at 4 p.m.

Annual banquet of the Edmonton Cine Club will be held at the Corona hotel on April 30. At that time prizes will be distributed to winners in various club picture contests.

Police were informed Thursday that a resident of 100 avenue and 114 street was awakened about 7 a.m. that day by an intruder who had his head and shoulders through the window of her bed-room. When he became aware that he was being observed, he departed.

Say Spring Show Entries Largest In City History

Entries for the Edmonton Exhibition Association's spring show and bull sales to be held April 10 to 13 inclusive are the largest in recent history with practically all classes showing increased participation by livestock breeders in the territory, it was announced Friday by Charles E. Wilson, managing director of the association.

The entries in the juvenile classes are "extremely good" with increases recorded in the Shorthorn, Hereford and Aberdeen Angus calf feeding competitions. Last year the entries in the calf feeding class were divided into breed-groups. This innovation was so successful that it was continued this year, and is now a policy of the association.

BEEF CLASSES

More than 70 entries have been received in the three beef classes and in the dairy calf classes, Mr. Wilson stated. Entries in the boys' and girls' horsemanship classes also show an encouraging increase.

In the finished cattle competitions the entries range well ahead of last year with 29 contestants in the class for animals 900 pounds or under. The class for animals between 900 and 1000 pounds has attracted 18 entries, with other classes showing increases in the number of contestants.

The finished cattle group classes also show record entries as livestock producers in the territory compete for the special prizes donated by The City of Edmonton, and business houses.

In the heavy horse classes the entries in the Clydesdale, Belgian and Percheron groups are well above the average of previous years, and some thrilling driving will be witnessed as exhibitors show their four and six horse teams.

HEAVY ENTRIES

Exceptionally heavy entries have been received in the light horse classes, and some of the finest jumpers in Alberta will be on view in the hunter and jumping competitions. In some of these classes the entries range as high as 26 contestants.

A total of 179 animals have been entered in the purebred bull sale which will be held on Thursday, April 12, with J. W. Durno, Calgary, and Don Ball, Edmonton, the auctioneers.

The number of Shorthorn breed bulls entered is 109, Aberdeen-Angus, 31, and 33 Herefords. A total of 45 has been entered in the bred sow sale, seven of which are Tamworths, and 38 Yorkshires.

On Tuesday, April 10, the annual meeting of the Alberta Clydesdale Horse Breeders' Association will be held in the Exhibition office at 8 p.m.

LIGHT HORSE SHOW

The light horse show, which was held during June while the arena was in occupancy by the RCAF, is now being included in the regular activities of the spring show, Mr. Wilson stated. He expressed gratification at the large number of entries received in all classes, and especially in the exceptionally fine entries received in the "glamour horse classes."

Mr. Wilson stated that some of the finest hunters in Alberta will be seen in the ring during the light horse show competitions.

Red Cross Drive Near Finish Line

Members of the Northern Alberta Red Cross campaign committee were taking a well-earned respite Friday as the holiday closed down various business firms which are yet to be canvassed in the nation-wide drive, now aimed at raising as much more than $10,000,000 as possible.

The campaign has operated since March 1 and will draw to a close at the beginning of the week. The last figure reported by the local committee, $272,198, is an increase of $95,198 over the amount received from the city and district in the 1944 campaign. The national target was exceeded early this week, and all provinces have now passed their quotas. Alberta's quota was $400,000.

District Mines Consider Closing

Announcement of the closing of the Beverly Coal Co. Ltd. mine at Beverly may be only the forerunner of other such announcements, a coal operator stated Friday. He stated that two or three others were contemplating similar action because of the uncertain future of the industry in this territory.

Notification of intention to close the Beverly company's mine has been received by provincial mines branch, it was stated by John Crawford, chief inspector. He did not know the closing date, and E. I. Clarke, president of the company, would not comment on the probable date.

Approximately 40,000 tons of coal are produced in this mine annually with the production distributed to city schools, buildings and homes.

The mine is located in the Beverly townsite, and a royalty is paid to the town on the coal mined. The town is now seeking incorporation within the Edmonton city limits.

No Expectation Of Easement in Rubber Supply

There is little expectation that restrictions on the sale of natural rubber tires in Canada will ease up within two years of the cessation of hostilities, E. W. Hayter, New Toronto, supervisor of truck and farm tires and mechanical goods advertising for the Goodyear Tire Rubber company said here Friday.

Mr. Hayter was in Edmonton in the course of a return trip to his headquarters after conferring with branch managers of the firm in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. He will fly from here to Regina Sunday. In Edmonton he met with A. M. Frederick, salesman for Edmonton and district, and other officials of the firm. The general rubber situation has been the topic for the discussion with conservation of rubber the main theme.

NO IMMEDIATE AID

Mr. Hayter declared that American liberation of Jap-held territory in the Far East was not expected to bring about an immediate flow of natural rubber to North American markets. "While it is impossible for the Japanese to destroy the plantations by burning them, because of the immensity of such an operation, they are damaging the fields through neglect. They are simply stripping the land of all the rubber available," he explained. The result is that a considerable length of time will elapse before the rubber output matches the pre-war importation from the Eastern countries. To date there has not been sufficient territory liberated to have an appreciable effect on the Allied rubber situation, Mr. Hayter stated.

In the meantime, synthetic rubber is doing the job that the natural product once did. Mr. Hayter declared that he had been particularly impressed during his tour by the favorable manner in which westerners regard synthetic rubber. "Given proper care, the artificial product is holding out well," he said.

He predicted forthcoming developments in uses for both synthetic and natural rubber, that would have an important bearing on the life of the postwar nation.

WINNIPEG, March 30.—(CP)—Archibald C. Campbell yesterday retired after serving more than 10 years as a Manitoba provincial court magistrate. He was appointed magistrate in 1934.

"Don't Fence Me In" Scientists' Theme?

At the regular monthly meeting of the Council of Canadian Unity, H. E. Tanner traced the growth of public confidence in the work of the scientist from earliest times when he was looked upon as something rather queer, to today, when his work has earned the respect of the masses.

The scientist's discoveries are international. To illustrate this point, Mr. Tanner showed that the cure for malaria was discovered by an Italian, and for tettinus by a Japanese.

Mr. Tanner said that the current popular "Don't Fence Me In" made a fitting theme song for the scientist. Looking to the problem of feeding millions of people, the scientist can show society how ample food, shelter, and clothing can be produced for all humanity. If the question arises how to pay for these things so that all humanity may actually be provided with their needs, science could doubtless show the way.

Adding to the aspect of the world as a unit, Miss Anita Iowas said that the world has become small and people have now a sense of being close to one another, so that it might be considered as One World for all practical purposes. She felt that all people should support all efforts of collective security.

Name Directors For Rotary Club

Directors of the Edmonton Rotary club who will take office July 1 for 1945-46 were elected Thursday at the luncheon meeting of the club in the Macdonald hotel. The new directors are C. A. Blair, Clark Ready, D'Arcy McLeod, E. A. Ormsby and F. H. King.

Prof. Ross W. Collins, of the University of Alberta, was guest speaker at the meeting. His subject was "Present Trends in Russia."

He pointed out that there is a changing political philosophy in Russia today and many factors which were excluded entirely from Russian life are gradually finding their way back in.

As examples he cited the once denied classics which are now included in education, and the growing recognition of religion as part of Russian life.

A new member, Alex Miller, was introduced to the meeting by Fred Wells.

Nazis Inaugurate 'Terror' Campaign

LONDON, March 30—(AP)—Amid rising reports of chaos inside Germany the Berlin radio boasted last night that "German freedom fighters" had assassinated Franz Oppenhof, Allied-appointed mayor of Aachen, and declared that another "traitor" mayor had been blown up with is entire family in the village of Muetzenich, near Monchau, south of Aachen.

As the Nazis announced the inauguration of their terror campaign against collaborationists, three Japanese diplomats, including Sabura Saguwara, reached Stockholm by plane from Berlin—apparently "fleeing the sinking ship."

Swiss dispatches said many high Nazi officials already had taken refuge on the German Island of Mainau on Lake Constance, waiting for the war to end and hoping to sneak into Switzerland at the last minute. The Swiss reinforced their frontier guard to prevent such entries.

There were reports of Germans fighting Germans, of riots and mutinies, of public executions and increasing desertions as Allied armies swept across the Reich and the Nazis tried to combat the rising panic.

Ritchie League Wants Basements

That war-time houses be provided with full basements, to be financed by eliminating the proposed lean-to on each house was the subject of a resolution adopted by the executive of the Ritchie Community League and forwarded to all interested organizations in Edmonton for their endorsation, and to Wartime Housing Ltd., Toronto.

In the preamble to the resolution, it is stated that present plans for wartime houses to be built in the Ritchie community do not conform to existing city specifications, and that these sub-standard qualities would create a potential slum district and lower the value of the modern homes already built and under construction.

ROME, March 30.—(BUP)—The Fifth and Eighth Army fronts along the Po valley continued quiet today although a broadcast French communique said French forces had opened a campaign along the Franco-Italian border just below Switzerland.

The French troops were reported to have stormed and captured a German strongpoint on the southern slopes of Mt. Valazzan near the St. Bernard Pass leading into northern Italy.

The French announcement came a day after Allied warships were revealed to have carried out four days of attacks on German positions along the Mediterranean coast near the French border.

Elected in the service personnel voting of January, he obtained leave to attend the session. In view of the long Easter adjournment he was unable to remain and wait for reconvening of the house. TODAY'S MARKETS

Local Produce

BUTTER PRICES

No. 1, 34½; No. 2, 32½; No. 3, 30½.

CREAM PRICES

Prices for cream delivered to Edmonton creameries: Special grade, 44; No. 1, 43; No. 2, 37; off grade, 33.

All prices include government bonus of 10c to farmers.

EGG PRICES

Dealers now paying to country shippers: A large, 30; A medium, 28; A pullet, 21; grade B, 24; grade C, 18-19.

Wholesale to retail: A large, 37; A medium, 35; A pullet, 29; grade B, 31; grade C, 27.

Retail to consumers: A large, 44; A medium, 42; A pullet, 39; grade B, 38; grade C, 32.

The most important development on this egg market during the past week was an increase of 1c per dozen to producers on ungraded values for A large and A medium, and a 2c to 3c per dozen increase in paying prices for grade C. The market outlet for eggs is, of course, unchanged so that this increase is the result of competitive business. Receipts show an increase of 13 per cent. from the preceding week, and in value are 20 per cent. in excess of the corresponding period for 1944. Indications are that the peak week of production may be earlier than last year, which was April 22nd to May 6th. Quality continues to run high to top grades with slightly more soiled shells in evidence as a result of spring thaws. Six cars grade A large and medium were exported in shell to the British ministry, five carlots A large and A medium were oiled and placed in storage for fall shipment to the British ministry, and three carlots of A pullets and Bs were transferred to the local drying plant. Shipments to northern projects were lighter in volume than the preceding week.

POULTRY PRICES

The poultry market continues quiet with light arrivals of fowl and some late chicken. There was no carlot movement of frozen stocks, and stocks of chicken especially are well cleaned out. Only a very few broilers are as yet in evidence. Paping and selling prices on dressed poultry continue very firm as quoted. Dealers are guaranteeing for broilers 2 to 3½ lbs. dressed milkfed A 30c, milkfed B 28c, grade B 26c and grade C 22c, less 6c per head as a killing charge. Quotations on live No. 1 fowl remain unchanged at over 5 lbs. 17c, 4 to 5 lbs. 15c, No. 2 fowl 10c, No. 1 chicken over 4 lbs. 19c, under 4 lbs. 17c, No. 2 15c.

WEEKLY HATCHERY OUTLOOK REPORT

This week's report is based on reports received from 18 hatcheries with a setting capacity of 1,136,204 eggs. They report as an average 95 per cent. of capacity now used. Total eggs set since start of season 2,070,614 with total chicks hatched since start of season, 780,397, with hatchability average of 64 with many individual hatches from 80 to 96.

Most hatcheries were fully two weeks' later starting than for 1944. This situation was, of course, influenced by a decrease in orders for January and February chicks compared to 1944. A comparison of chicks hatched is shown as follows:

Jan.		Feb.
1944	4,268	1944	578,890
1945	4,589	1945	189,918

Advance bookings for March, April and well into May vary from good to heavy, and weather conditions may now be considered very helpful. Cockerels, both heavy and light breeds, have been moving very well during the past week, and altogether the hatchery outlook is considerably improved. There is to be no let up in the program to promote special raising of poultry meat from broiler weights to heavy roasters.
